THE IRON INTEREST.—A number of gentlemen largely interested in the manufactures of our city recently called our attention to a free trade editorial which appeared in the New York Evening Post, and requested that the GAZETTE should champion the cause of protection, and refute the mischievous arguments and misrepresentations of that journal. Owing to the absence of our editor-in-chief, to whom we referred the subject, the reply has been delayed a few days, but this morning we present the first of a series of protection articles which we propose publishing. We bespeak a careful perusal of the leading editorial on our second page, headed "The Iron Interest," as we believe it will be fully endorsed by every person interested in the protection of home industries.

FROM THE Judiciary Committee, in the Senate, yesterday, Mr. Trumbull reported a bill supplementary to the Reconstruction Act, which was ordered to be printed. The following are its provisions: Sec. 1—It declares the military authority in the late rebellious States to be higher than the civil; Sec. 2—provides for the removal of any civil or military officer by the District Commander, providing the General of the United States Armies shall approve of the action, and further makes provision for the filling of vacancies so occasioned; Sec. 3—vests proper power in the General of the Armies to sustain commanders in removals, suspensions and filling of vacancies; Sec. 4—confirming removals and appointments already made by District Commanders; Sec. 5—authorizes the Boards of Registration to make full inquiry into the claims of persons claiming registration, not regarding the necessary oath as full or conclusive evidence of the applicant's right; Sec. 6—further defines the disqualifying clause, construing it to include all civil officers created by law for the administration of the general laws of the State; Sec. 7—gives the District Commander authority to extend the time for registration, and to strike off the names of unworthy persons already registered, if satisfied that they were not entitled to the privilege; Sec. 8—gives the Commander power to remove, when necessary, any member of the Board of Registration and supply his place by appointment.

In the House a bill to repeal the bankrupt law was introduced, also one abolishing National Banks.

Mr. Stevens, from the Reconstruction Committee, reported a bill similar in its points to the Judiciary bill, but not so complete.

THE death of ex-Gov. John A. King, of New York, is announced as having occurred on Sunday, at Jamaica, Long Island, from a stroke of paralysis, received on the 4th inst. He was born in New York in 1788 and served in the Assembly and State Senate some twelve years. From 1849 to 1851 he was in Congress from New York, and from 1856 to 1858 was Governor of that State. Rufus King, the statesman, writer and diplomatist, was his father. The deceased was a delegate to the Peace Congress in 1861.

THE DEFENSE OF SURRATT has commenced. But little favorable testimony has thus far been obtained. Among the witnesses yesterday was Manager Hess, late of this city, who fully explained the connection of the prisoner with the calling of the hour just before Booth fired the fatal shot. It was the witness who called for the time, to one of the actors.

OUR EXCHANGES teem with accounts of accidents and fires occasioned by the use of fire-works on the Fourth. New Years day and our National occasions are generally followed by a train of casualties, and it seems to be about time that powder should be ignored in their celebration.

THE EIGHT HOUR LAW, recently adopted by the Wisconsin Legislature, went into effect on the 4th instant. Thus far it has made no change, as the workingmen prefer to work in the old style of ten hours per day, rather than the new at a proportionate reduction of wages.

A DAY or two since a negro in Cleveland made a double attempt at suicide without success. He first cut his throat from ear to ear, and then jumped out of a third story window to the pavement beneath. He is recovering. We should like to insure that chap's life.

A GENUINE Yankee clam bake was indulged in at Milwaukee, on the Fourth. The Puritan bivalves were ordered expressly from New England, and one hundred and fifty hungry persons participated in the feast.

GEN. CUSTAR has been heard from. Instead of being routed, defeated and killed, he has been successfully coping with superior numbers of the dusky foe.

THE abduction of Santa Anna from an American vessel by the Mexican authorities, caused a resolution of inquiry in the House yesterday.

OPEN AIR religious services are held in Milwaukee, with considerable success.

—It appears that the good people of St. Petersburg were rather loth to see their sovereign depart from their capital without being accompanied, as he has always been for the past eight or ten years, by an immense dog called "Mylord." The dog was one of the Imperial suite last year, when the Czar came to Nice to see his son die, and was much talked of for his attachment to his master, whom he never left a moment, sleeping always on a rug by his bedside. Only a few days after the Czar's departure Mylord was taken ill and died, the news was telegraphed to Paris, but not communicated to the Czar. The young Grand Dukes concluded that it was best that he should not be told of it as they were sure it would greatly mar the pleasure of the visit. The death of a dog is regarded as a bad omen in Russia, and the attempt on the life of the Emperor will confirm the superstition.

—Agricultural and emigration statistics, made public by order of Parliament, show that in the year 1866 the total decrease of land under cultivation in Ireland was 129,526 acres from the previous year. The decrease in respect to the crops was chiefly in oats, barley, potatoes, turnips and hay. The number of emigrants who left the country in the year was 101,251, or nearly 2,000 less than in 1865. The decrease was entirely in the number of female emigrants, as nearly 4,500 more male emigrants left the country in 1866 than in 1862.

—The Acting Secretary of the Interior has decided that the term "legitimate child," used in the pension laws, is to be construed to include children born before the marriage of parents, but afterward recognized by them, in States where the statutes legitimize children so acknowledged.

—Gabriel Chene, one of the oldest of the French settlers of Detroit, died on Tuesday last in that city.—John Y. Sawyer, a well-known railroad contractor, died in Chicago on Wednesday.—George Shields, engineer of the Cincinnati water works, died suddenly on the same day.

THE SURRATT TRIAL.

Evidence for the Defense.

CONTRADICTION OF SERGEANT DYE.

Surratt Not at Ford's Theatre.

THE MAN WHO CALLED THE TIME, "TEN MINUTES PAST TEN."

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 8, 1867.

Theodore Benjamin Rhodes recalled and questioned by the defense. Nothing new elicited.

John T. Ford testified to some facts relative to the Theatre and Booth; was familiar with Booth's handwriting. [Charles Selby's letter exhibited. This was the letter found by Mrs. Hudspeth.] Do not think it possible for Booth to have written this letter. As I said before, he wrote a large, clumsy hand, and I would never have taken this to be his writing.

Susan Ann Jackson, recalled for further cross-examination—On the morning after the assassination two men came there, but I did not see them. Was in bed when the men came in my room; I covered up my head and did not see them.

Mr. Bradley (pointing to Detective McDevitt)—Look around and see if you did not see this gentleman.

Witness—No, Sir; I never saw that man there. I did not hear any one call for John Surratt. I do not know a colored woman named Rachel or Eliza Hawkins. I never told any one that John Surratt had not been at home for two weeks.

Henry Clay Ford testified relative to the arrangements made for the President's visit. No stranger was there at the time, except a gentleman from the Treasury Department, who helped to fix up the flags.

James G. Gifford testified—On the night of the assassination witness was out in front at the end of the second and third acts. He went through the stage entrance on the south side of the theatre. Did not see Booth that night. Knew Booth from his boyhood. Never saw Surratt until I saw him here. Saw a gentleman come down and call the time. He was connected with the theatre; came down from F street. He was to go on that night for a song, and asked Mr. Carlin what time it was, and Carlin stepped up and looked at the clock and said it was ten minutes past ten. He stopped there a few minutes, and then went in. Other persons had been standing around at the time, but if Booth had been there witness would have noticed him.

C. D. Hess, sworn—Witness resides in Philadelphia. In 1865 was connected with a company performing at Ford's Theatre. Was assigned a song after the American Cousin that night. It was to be performed for the President. Was in front of the Theatre during the evening, talking with Gifford, and Carlin was standing opposite the stage entrance. Went back into the Theatre after talking with them. Asked what time it was. Carlin replied ten minutes past ten. Witness replied, repeating the words, that he would be wanted in a few minutes, and went on the stage, and two minutes afterwards heard the report of a pistol. Never saw the prisoner till now. Did not see him the night of the assassination.

A. J. Carlin testified similarly. Did not see Booth standing on the pavement, or any one looking into the President's carriage.

No further evidence being ready, the Court took a recess until to-morrow.

FROM NEW ORLEANS.

Arrival of Austrian Officers—They Express their Determination to Avenge the Death of Maximilian—The City Scrip Muddle—Held to Bail.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 8.—The Herald's New Orleans special says: The steamer Raleigh, hence for Havana, has on board about ten Austrian officers, who arrived from Vera Cruz, via Mobile, and now go to Havana with a view of remaining there until they have an opportunity to join some Mexican chieftain at enmity with Juarez. Among them are Major Herron and Darrings. The latter was the Military Commissary at Vera Cruz. They declare that they will return to Mexico and avenge Maximilian's death; that a few days will see a powerful chieftain at the head of a large anti-Juarez party, and the remnant of the Austrians will rendezvous at Havana, from which point they will return to Mexico.

The muddle concerning the city scrip still continues. The Finance Committee have at length reported in a strain of unusual severity upon the message of the acting Mayor, though failing to answer satisfactorily the points made by that functionary. In their report the Committee concede that the issues of city scrip by the Comptroller have never been legalized by a legislative act, though they attribute their want of legality to a certain veto of the acting Mayor, and contend that if informal the city is bound in honor to pay them. The Committee refuse to censure the Comptroller, and thus the matter assumes the complexion of a mere squabble between the appointees of Sheridan and the few officials who were not removed when they should have been.

Hon. T. H. May, of First National Bank notoriety, has been arraigned and held to bail in the sum of fifty thousand dollars.

OLD POLITICIANS AND RECONSTRUCTION.

The question of reconstruction is calling forth opinions and communications from most of the old leaders of the South, many of whom held high rank in the civil or military service of the Confederacy. The latest effusions are from General Barksdale and Governor Perry. The former, like Longstreet, Jeff. Thompson and others, favors reconstructing as rapidly as possible, while the latter, like B. H. Hill, of Georgia, and others oppose reconstruction under the law and votes for "no Convention." It is a noticeable fact that the old soldiers and old politicians are ranging themselves on opposite sides of the question.

IMMIGRANTS.

Three thousand and forty-five immigrants arrived to-day.

BURGLARS CAUGHT.

Three well-known burglars, Lawrence Griffin, Thomas Burns, and Charles Jones, were caught last night in an attempt to rob a bonded warehouse.

REVENUE SWINDLERS.

Adolph Archer, Nicholas Lawson and Wm. Salem were arrested to-day by officers of the Internal Revenue Department, charged with issuing fraudulent bonds, whereby they obtained possession of a large quantity of spirits.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

Dispatches from General Custar's Command—The Indians Attack a Detachment of Twenty-five Men and are Repulsed—Attack on Custar's Camp—They are Defeated and Driven Off.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 8.—The Herald's Omaha special says: The following has been received at headquarters from General Custar's command, dated at Riverside, Colorado, forty miles west of Fort Sedgwick, July 6th: On the 24th ult. forty-five Sioux attacked a detachment of twenty-five men under Captain Hamilton, near the forks of the Republican river. After a gallant fight the Indians were defeated and driven off, with the loss of two warriors killed and several wounded, Hamilton losing only one horse.

On the same day a large band of Sioux warriors surrounded Custar's camp, endeavoring to stampede his horses, but were repulsed without the loss of a single animal. On the 25th, a party of Sioux and Cheyenne warriors, numbering five or six hundred, attacked and surrounded forty-two men of the Seventh cavalry, under Lieutenants Robbins and Cook, who were escorting a supply train to Fort Wallace. The Indians remained about the train for three hours, and made desperate efforts to effect its capture, but after a well contested fight, they were repulsed with a loss of five warriors killed and several wounded, and one horse captured. Our loss was only two men wounded.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

Work on the Central Pacific Railroad—To be Completed Over the Mountains by November Next—Sixteen Thousand Laborers at Work.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—The work of the Central Pacific Railroad is being pushed forward with energy. It is expected to be completed over the mountains in November. Sixteen thousand workmen are employed grading from Cisco to Truckee. The summit tunnel, sixteen hundred and fifty-eight feet in length, will be finished in August. Large orders have been sent east by the Company for cars and locomotives. The business of the road this year is in excess of last year. The gross earnings of June were one hundred and twenty-two thousand dollars in coin. The present strike of the Chinese laborers only caused a suspension of work for one day. The workmen resumed labor on the former terms, the Company making no concession.

A Gang of Robbers.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LOUISVILLE, July 8.—A gang of thieves, for the past two months have been operating along the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago Railroad. The scene of their operations extend from Salem to Lafayette. Their latest robberies have been committed at Clover Dale, Carpenterville and Gosport. No arrests have yet been made, though over twenty bold robberies have been committed.

RECONSTRUCTION BILL FROM COMMITTEE.

Mr. TRUMBULL, from the Judiciary Committee, reported the following bill, which, after some objection from Mr. SUMNER, was read a second time and ordered to be printed:

A Bill to give effect to an Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2d, 1867.

Be it enacted, &c., That the true intent and meaning of the act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2d, 1867, was, is, and shall be construed to be that the military authority of the United States in said rebel States, as provided in said act, was and is paramount to any Civil Government existing therein, makes all such Civil Governments subordinate to such military authority, and prohibits them from interfering in any way with the exercise of such military authority.

Second—That the commander of any district named in said act shall have power, subject to the approval of the General of the armies of the United States, whenever in the opinion of such commander the proper administration of said act shall require it, to suspend or remove from office, or from the performance of official duties, and exercise official powers, any officer or person holding or exercising, or professing to hold or exercise, any civil or military office or duty in such district under any power, election, appointment, or authority derived from, or granted by, or claimed under any so called State or the government thereof, or any municipal or other division thereof, and upon such suspension or removal such commander, subject to the approval of the General aforesaid, shall have power to provide from time to time for the performance of said duties of such officer, or person so suspended or removed, by the detail of some competent officer or soldier of the army to perform the same.

Third—That the General of the armies of the United States shall be invested with all the powers of suspension, removal and detail granted in the preceding section to district commanders.

Fourth—That the acts of the officers of the army already done, in removing in said districts persons exercising the functions of civil officers and appointing others in their stead are hereby confirmed.

Fifth—That the Boards of Registration provided for in the act entitled an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2d, 1867, and to facilitate restoration, passed March 23d, 1867, shall have power, and it shall be their duty, before allowing the registration of any person, to ascertain, upon such facts or information as they can obtain, whether such person is entitled to be registered under said act, and the oath required by said act shall not be conclusive on such question; and no person shall be registered unless such Board shall also have power to examine under oath, to be administered by any member of such Board, any one touching the qualification of any person claiming registration.

Sixth—That the true intent and meaning of the oath prescribed in said supplementary act is, among other things, that no person who has been a member of the Legislature of any State, or who has held an Executive or Judicial office in any State, whether he has taken an oath to support the Constitution of the United States or not, and has afterward engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or given aid and comfort to the enemy, therefore is entitled to be registered or to vote, and the words Executive or Judicial office in any State in said mentioned act, shall be construed to include all civil officers created by law for the administration of the general laws of the State.

Seventh—That the time for completing the original registration provided for in said act may, at the discretion of the Commander of any district, be extended to the first day of October, 1867, and Boards of Registration shall have power, and it shall be their duty, commencing twenty days prior to any election under said act, and upon reasonable public notice of the time and place thereof, to revise for a period of three days the registration lists; upon being satisfied that any person not entitled thereto has been registered, to strike the name of such person from the list, and such person shall not be allowed to vote; and such Board shall also during the same period add to such registry the names of all persons who at that time possess the qualifications required by said act, who have not been already registered, and no person shall at any time be entitled to be registered or vote, by reason of any executive pardon or amnesty of any act or thing, which, without such pardon or amnesty, would disqualify him from registration or voting.

Eighth—That section fourth of said last named act shall be construed to authorize the commanding general named therein, whenever he shall deem it needful, to remove any member of a Board of Registration and appoint another person in his stead, and to fill any vacancy in such Board.

THE INDIAN DIFFICULTIES.

On motion of Mr. HENDERSON, a resolution was adopted, calling upon the Secretary of War and Secretary of the Interior for information as to the origin and extent of the Indian difficulties.

MEXICAN AFFAIRS.

Resolution previously submitted, calling upon the State Department for all correspondence with Lewis D. Campbell, while Minister to Mexico, and with his successor since his appointment, also calling upon the Secretary of State for information concerning the recent events in Mexico, was read.

In reply to an inquiry from Mr. HOWARD, Mr. SUMNER said he expected this resolution would obtain an authentic account of the capture, trial and execution of Maximilian and Santa Anna.

Mr. HOWARD entertained the belief that if the truth was fully communicated, it would have a very beneficial effect in correcting a sort of childish sentimentalism, if he might be allowed that expression, on the subject of the execution, or, in other words, just punishment of one who, according to his (Mr. Howard's) idea, was the most arrant felon of the present day.

The resolution of Mr. SUMNER was adopted.

CAPITOL POLICE.

The Senate decided, by a vote of eight to twenty-seven, it could not consider the resolution adopted on Friday by the House, for a joint committee concerning the capitol police.

THE ATROCITIES IN MEXICO.

Mr. CHANDLER offered a resolution directing the Committee on Foreign Affairs to examine into and report at the earliest practical moment concerning the decree of Maximilian, issued October 3d, 1865, and the statement that certain Mexican officers and ten thousand other Mexican officers and men were inhumanly murdered in cold blood after having surrendered as prisoners of war, in violation of every law and usage of civilized warfare.

The resolution went over till to-morrow.

THANKS TO GEN. SHERIDAN.

The resolution of the House tendering the thanks of Congress to Gen. Sheridan came up, when Mr. POMEROY raised the point that the Senate could not consider it, under the resolution of Friday.

Mr. TIPTON moved to suspend the resolution of Friday to allow the passage of all these resolutions of thanks. Negatived—five against twenty-seven.

BOUNTIES TO MISSOURI TROOPS.

Mr. DRAKE moved that the Senate take up the concurrent resolution of the House directing the re-enrollment of the bill of last session for the payment of bounties to certain Missouri troops. The bill was passed by both Houses last session, but was not presented to the President in time to receive his signature.

Mr. ROSS hoped the Senate would pass the resolution. The failure of the bill to receive the President's signature in time was not his fault, although it was unavoidable.

Mr. BUCKALEW said the bill having failed, under the circumstances named, it must be passed.

Pending the consideration of this subject, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

KENTUCKY REPRESENTATIVE QUALIFIED.

Mr. ADAMS, Representative from the Eighth Congressional District of Kentucky, was qualified by taking the oath.

VARIETY OF BUSINESS.

A large number of bills and joint resolutions were introduced, including a bill to repeal the Bankrupt law, and one abolishing the National Banks, redeeming bills with legal tenders, and making the latter receivable for Customs.

Also a resolution by Mr. BROOKS, denouncing the execution of prisoners of war, and directing the Senate to report a bill repealing so much of the neutrality laws as forbid the organization in the United States of emigration to other parties to effect and secure settlement in Mexico.

ABDUCTION OF SANTA ANNA.

Also, a resolution, by Mr. WOOD, of inquiry as to what action should be taken by the Government of the United States in view of the forcible abduction of General Santa Anna from an American vessel by Mexican authorities, in June, and whether the existing treaty between the United States and Mexico, and law of nations, were not violated in that case in such manner as, together with other outrages against the rights and property of Americans, to call for immediate and summary action upon the part of this Government. Referred.

MISSOURI BOUNTY BILL.

Mr. McCLURG introduced a concurrent resolution for the re-enrollment of the Missouri troops bounty bill, which was not signed by the President last session, because not presented to him till two days after the adjournment. It was adopted.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

Mr. ASHLEY offered a Constitutional amendment, providing that all persons hereafter naturalized must be able to read and write the English language as a qualification for voting; also, that no person shall hold office, civil or military, under the United States, who was a member of any Legislature or Convention which passed the act of secession, or voted therefor, or who held a commission above the rank of Captain in the insurgent army, or having taken the oath to support the Constitution of the United States engaged in rebellion against the same, or aided its enemies, but Congress by a two-thirds vote may remove such disability, &c.

MEXICO AGAIN.

On motion of Mr. BANKS, the President was requested to furnish all the information received by the Government relative to the arrest and execution of Maximilian and Santa Anna.

KENTUCKY ELECTION CASES.

Mr. DAWES, from the Committee on Elections, made a report in reference to the cases of the Kentucky members, stating in detail the allegations against their loyalty and respectability, declaring that no person who had been engaged in rebellion, or had given aid and comfort to it, should be permitted to be sworn as a member; but that disloyalty of constituencies, or irregularity of elections, were matters that pertained to a contest in the ordinary way, and should not prevent the person holding he certificate from taking his seat. Laid on the table and ordered to be printed.

The answer of Mr. Young, one of the Kentucky members, to the statement of Mr. McKee, denouncing it as malicious and false, declaring he can take the oath required by law, and is ready and willing to do so, and denouncing Mr. McKee's slur on the Kentucky Democracy as one that could only have proceeded from a heart abounding in malice and uncharitableness, was referred to the Committee on Elections.

Mr. BROOKS presented a protest of Mr. Beck, another of the Kentucky members referred to.

Mr. LOGAN offered a resolution instructing the Committee on Elections to inquire into the acts of disloyalty alleged against the Kentucky members, with power to send for persons and papers, and sit during recess. Adopted.

BUTLER ON THE ASSASSINATION.

On motion of Mr. BUTLER, the following was adopted:

WHEREAS, No investigation of all the facts and circumstances connected with the assassination of the late President of the United States has been had by competent authority, tending to show who were the persons engaged in the conspiracy to do the act, its inducements, its objects, its instruments, and means of accomplishment;

And whereas, Such investigation cannot be fully had, on account of Justice in trying one or more of the conspirators in a single issue being trammelled with questions of the admissability of evidence confined to the issue, therefore be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives of the United States of America, that a special committee of five members of the House be appointed, whose duty it shall be to investigate all the facts and circumstances connected with the assassination of the late lamented President of the United States, and record the facts thereby obtained, and report the same to the House at any time, with such recommendations as may seem proper.

Be it further Resolved, That such Committee, for the purpose of this investigation, shall have power to administer oaths, to send for persons and papers, and appoint a Clerk and stenographer, and to sit during any recess of the House, and that the expense of such investigation be paid from the contingent fund of the House.

Be it further Resolved, That a copy of all the testimony taken by the Committee on the Judiciary of the 39th and 40th Congress, and germain to the subject, be referred to said Committee.

Be it further Resolved, That as the crime to be investigated is of the most heinous and unprecedented character, and is believed to have included in its plan and perpetration many persons holding high positions of power and authority, who were acting through inferior persons as their tools and instruments, and as such persons may be prevented from giving evidence because of their liability to punishment for participation in such conspiracy; therefore, to open all sources of evidence, the Committee be empowered to report a bill granting grace and amnesty, according to Parliamentary usage, to any persons having cognizance of such conspiracy, not already put on their trial and convicted of complicity therein, who shall give material and faithful evidence tending to bring to light the facts of said conspiracy, and that in the judgment of the Houses, no person in whose favor said report shall be made ought to be brought to trial on any evidence given by him to the Committee.

The SPEAKER subsequently announced the Special Committee, as follows: Messrs. Butler, Shellabarger, Julian, Ward and Randall.

CABINET PROCEEDINGS.

On motion of Mr. SCHENCK, the President was called on for a full report of the proceedings of Cabinet meetings on the reconstruction act.

MR. STEVENS REPORTS A BILL.

Mr. STEVENS reported from the Reconstruction Committee the following bill:

Be it enacted, &c., That it is hereby declared to have been the true intent and meaning of the act of the second day of March, 1867, entitled an Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, and of the act supplementary thereto, passed on the 23d of March, in the year 1867, that the governments then existing in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana, Florida, Texas and Arkansas, were illegal and void, and that thereafter said governments, if continued, were to be continued subject in all respects to the military commanders of the respective districts, and to the authority of Congress.

SEC. 2. That the said acts to which this is a supplement, shall be construed to authorize the officer assigned to the command of any military district under said acts, whenever he shall deem it necessary to the due performance of his duties under said acts, to remove or suspend any municipal or State officer, or person exercising authority under or by virtue of any so called State Governments existing in his district, and said officer so assigned to command as aforesaid is hereby empowered to appoint another person instead of the officer or person so removed, if he shall deem it proper so to do, and when he may deem it necessary, as aforesaid, to prohibit, suspend or set aside any act or proceeding of any such State or municipal government, or any act or thing done under or by virtue of its authority, and the acts heretofore done by such officer in accordance herewith, shall be deemed valid.

SEC. 3. That the Boards of Registration of the several military districts established by the acts to which this is supplementary, shall admit to registration only such persons as they deem entitled to be registered by the acts aforesaid; they shall not regard the taking of the oath prescribed in the act of March 23d, 1867, conclusive evidence of the right of persons taking it to be registered, but prima facie only, and may receive such evidence under oath relating thereto as they may deem proper, either from the person applying to be registered or others, and either of the members of said boards is hereby authorized to administer oaths or affirmations, and examine witnesses touching the right of any person to be registered; such boards of registration may strike from the list of voters the name of any one already registered, who in their judgment improperly took the oath prescribed in the acts to which this is supplementary, or was not entitled by said acts to be registered; record evidence shall not be required by said boards to prove participation in the rebellion, but parole evidence shall be sufficient to establish the fact of such participation, and said boards of registration shall not be bound or governed in their action by any opinion of any officer of the United States Government.

SEC. 4. That no civil court of the United States shall have jurisdiction of any action or proceeding, civil or criminal, against any such district commander, or any officer or person acting by his authority, for or on account of the discharge of duties imposed on him by this act, or acts to which it is supplementary.

SEC. 5. That no district commander shall be relieved from the command assigned to him under the aforesaid acts, unless the Senate shall have first advised and consented thereto, or unless by sentence of court martial he shall be cashiered or dismissed from the army, or unless he shall consent to be so relieved.

SEC. 6. That the time for the completion of the registration of persons properly qualified to vote may be extended by the said district commanders to any day prior to the first of October, A. D., 1867.

Several amendments were suggested by Messrs. ASHLEY, (Ohio,) WILSON, (Iowa,) BURR and BENJAMIN.

Mr. STEVENS consented that Mr. WILSON'S amendment should be considered pending. It provides that any person who shall attempt to prevent the execution of the act shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be subject to a penalty of $5,000 fine, or imprisonment for four years, or both, at the discretion of the Court.

Mr. STEVENS subsequently consented that Mr. BENJAMIN'S amendment be considered pending. It provides that the right of any person to be registered as a legal voter shall in no respect be changed or affected by virtue of any pardon granted to such person by the President of the United States for participation in the rebellion.

Mr. STEVENS remarked that he did not know whether there was any desire to discuss the bill. He did not think there was any real desire to criticize or discuss to any extent. He was inclined, if he did not think it entirely insufficient, to accept the amendment of the gentleman from Iowa, (Mr. Wilson) and move the previous question on the passage of the bill. [Suggestions from Republican members, who had gathered around Mr. Stevens, "Do it," "Do it."] He hoped it would not be considered harsh. [Members—"No! let us have the previous question."]

Mr. WOOD appealed to Mr. Stevens not to deprive the minority of the opportunity to discuss the bill.

Mr. BROOKS asked opportunity to make a minority report.

Mr. SCHOFIELD objected to binding the House to receive a report at any time, though when offered he might have no objections.

Mr. STEVENS consented to allow the discussion to go on, with the understanding he would ask for a vote at half past one to-morrow.

Messrs. CHANDLER and MUNGER spoke against the bill.

Mr. PAINE introduced a bill to extend the priviliges of the Homestead law to Freedmen. Referred.

SANTA ANNA.

Senor Romero does not credit the rumor that General Santa Anna was shot at Sisal, on the 25th ult. He has received an official letter from the Governor of the State of Yucatan, dated on the 21st, stating that General Santa Anna was arrested at Sisal on the 11th, and sent next day to Campeachy, to be kept in prison there until President Juarez should dispose of him. The Governor of Campeachy in an official letter, dated on the 16th, states that General Santa Anna had arrived there and that he would be kept in prison, and accordingly there is, therefore, no probability that he had been tried from the 15th to the 25th ult., and much less that he would have been shot.

THE INDIAN TROUBLES.

The reports by telegraph from Topeka via St. Louis, representing the Little Osage Indians to be on the war path, are not credited here. A letter, written four days after the date of this report, does not mention any trouble. At this season of the year the Osages leave their villages for their Buffalo hunt, and this is thought to be the origin of the report that they are on the war path. No advices have been received at the Indian Bureau of any trouble.

Owing to the necessary condensation of the report of the long debate in the Senate recently, there is a misapprehension of the tenor of the remarks of Senator Thayer, of Nebraska, on that occasion. He proposed to locate all Indian tribes between Nebraska, Kansas, and the Rocky Mountains on two reservations, one to the western portion of Dacotah Territory, the other to the Indian Territory west of Arkansas, both to be perpetual reservations with, as far as practible, non-intercourse between whites and Indians.

ALLEGHENY CHILD MURDER CASE.

In the Oyer and Terminer, Judge Stowe being present, the case of the Commonwealth vs. Ruth Ann Grubbs, indicted for the murder of her bastard child, was called. The accused, a young woman under twenty years of age, was brought from jail, and arraigned in due form, pleading "not guilty." The indictment charged, in substance, that on the 24th of April last, she gave birth to a female bastard child, which she deprived of life by casting it into a privy vault. At the time of the occurrence she resided in the First ward of Allegheny.

[Just before proceeding with the arraignment Samuel Boyd, blacksmith, of the Fourth ward, Allegheny, plead guilty, or nolle contendere, to an indictment for fornication and bastardy, on oath of Ruth Ann Grubbs, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 for the use of the Guardians of the Poor. The information in the case was for seduction.]

L. P. Stone and John C. McCarthy, Esqs., appeared as counsel for the prisoner. When the arraignment was completed, as far as the calling of a jury, it appeared the witnesses for the Commonwealth were not present, by reason of which the case proceeded no further, and another was taken up.

A CHARGE OF ADULTERY—SINGULAR CASE.

Thomas Hallowell, an Englishman, was placed on trial on an indictment charging him with the crime of adultery, on oath of his son, Ernest Hallowell, fourteen years of age. The defendant refused the counsel assigned him, and said he would try his own case. The prosecutor testified that he had resided in the city about nine months, coming with his father, the prisoner, from Yorkshire, England; his mother had remained in England; a woman named Sarah Hewitt, and witness' younger brother, came with him and his father from the Old Country, the woman Hewitt living with them in the Seventh ward, and she and the prisoner cohabiting together as man and wife; his mother was in full life when they left England, but she was intemperate, and his father accused her of going with other men.

The witness was cross-examined by his father. It appears he had quarreled with the woman Hewitt and struck her, for doing which he was ejected from the house, and not permitted to return. Witness complained to Alderman Strain, and in the conversation which took place at the magistrate's office the fact was mentioned that witness' mother had been left in England, and that his father was living in this city with the woman Hewitt, whereupon, the witness not objecting, an information was taken against his father for adultery. He was arrested, and also the woman. Subsequently, on an application for the reduction of bail and release of the defendant, witness "took back" what he had said concerning his father, stating, in effect, under oath, that the prosecution was without his consent, that he was forced to swear against him, and that he could not swear anything improper had taken place between his father and Miss Hewitt. Since then, however, after his father's release from prison, he had observed improper conduct, sufficient, as he testified, to establish the charge of adultery.

Alderman Strain and Officer Brown were called and testified to statements and admissions made by the prosecutor and defendant—contradicting the presumption that the former had been forced to make information, and establishing the guilt of the latter.

The defendant's request to call the woman Hewitt as a witness, was allowed. He questioned her as to the character of the boy prosecutor, and concerning his motives for bringing the charge. In reply to the question whether the prosecutor had ever seen anything improper between defendant and herself, she said "no, nor any one else." She said she came from England with defendant as his housekeeper, under an agreement to stay for a year at stipulated wages. She said she was twenty-one years of age, that her mother resided in England, and that it was with her consent that she came to this country with defendant. For some time before leaving for this country Hallowell's wife had not lived with him. In reply to the District Attorney, witness said she could say with a clear conscience that nothing improper had ever taken place between her and Hallowell—had never seen anything indecent about him. She said further that on the night before his second arrest Hallowell had a difficulty with his son (the prosecutor) who said that if his father did not give him one hundred dollars to go back to England he would "cook his goose for him." Hallowell refused to give the money.

The prosecutor was recalled to rebut the statements made by Miss Hewitt. He asserted that she did not come to this country with her mother's consent. In regard to demanding money of his father, he said his father offered to give him all the money he wanted if he would go back to England.

A younger son of the defendant, aged twelve years, was called and questioned. He said his brother was a very bad boy, told lies, and encouraged him to tell lies; that he had behaved badly while in England, and there brought the same charge against his father as now. Witness never saw his father and Sarah Hewitt sleep together, and did not believe his brother ever did.

The conduct of the case by the prisoner in his own behalf was much in his favor. His demeanor was courteous and respectful, and his remarks entirely proper in every respect. He addressed the jury briefly, asserting his innocence, and avowing that the trouble had been brought about by his son, whose conduct both in this country and in England had been very bad. But for himself the case would never have been brought to Court. He had gone to Mr. Riddell, the Assistant District Attorney, and urged on the case. The trouble and disgrace had been brought upon him, and he had determined to stand or fall by the verdict of a jury. His boy had persisted in his desire to go back to England, and in his demands for money to enable him to go; but he was yet under his control, and he resolved that he should so remain until he had obtained his majority.

Judge Mellon, in his charge to the jury, said the case was a very singular one. Under the circumstances as developed, doubts could not but exist as to the guilt of the defendant. The jury should not convict on mere suspicion.

The jury returned a verdict of not guilty, defendant to pay the costs.

In the case of Sarah Hewitt, indicted for fornication, a nolle prosequi was entered on payment of costs.

CHILD-MURDER CASE RESUMED.

The witnesses having made their appearance, the case of the Commonwealth vs. Ruth Ann Grubbs, indicted for killing her illegitimate child, was resumed. A jury was impannelled without any considerable difficulty in the way of challenging. The jurors sworn were:

Joseph Pollock.	Jacob Eberly.
John Kienley.	J. H. Robb.
John S. Normine.	E. F. A. Faulhaber.
John Bradshaw.	Daniel Coates.
Edward Davidson.	John Scott.
August Wightman.	Jas. W. Woodwell.

District Attorney Duff opened the case for the Commonwealth, briefly detailing the facts as they would be presented. He stated they expected to be able to show that before its birth she meditated the destruction of the child.

Dr. E. N. Rankin, practising physician in Allegheny City, testified that he was called to attend the accused about nine o'clock on the night of the 24th of April last, at a house in Martin street, First Ward; found her in bed; asked her if she had given birth to a child; she said she had not, and went off into a fainting fit; while in this condition he looked about the room and found the placenta and cord, which satisfied him something was wrong; he then made a personal examination of the prisoner, and found her in a condition usual in such cases; paid proper attention to her, and when she revived, asked her about the child; she said she had given it birth, but that it was dead; asked where it was, but she gave no answer, and went off into another fainting fit; her room was on the second floor; went down into the yard and saw Mr. and Mrs. Cahill and Mrs. Martin, and had some conversation. Mr. Cahill went to the Mayor's office, and two policemen came; blood marks were discovered in the privy; the little house was turned over, and the policemen searched with poles for about an hour without success; a night soiler was sent for, and witness went home. Next morning he was informed the child had been found, and was notified by the Coroner to make a post mortem examination of the child; found it fully developed, and from the appearance of the chest and lungs was of the opinion it had lived, or was born alive; the hair had a healthy appearance; the ears life like; the lungs were of a marble, pale red appearance, had pressed down the diaphragm to between the fifth and sixth ribs, and floated upon water; upon cutting into the lungs, and putting them in water, bubbles and bloody exudations came to the top; the stomach contained nothing but substance from the vault where the body was found. Noticed no external marks. Could not say what had destroyed the child's life; as a medical man he had formed no opinion as to that matter. Never saw the prisoner previous to calling to attend upon her.

Cross-examined: Have been a practising physician for fifteen years. In a case of the kind would not decide upon the appearance of the ears alone; they indicated that the child had been born alive, as also did the healthy appearance of the hair; did not examine the wind-pipe, which he should have done; the fact of the lungs floating when placed in water, was also a circumstance on which to base an opinion, but was not a certain indication. [Witness was cross-examined at some length by Mr. McCarthy on obstetrical matters, and as to the probability of the death of the child having been the result of accident or unavoidable under certain circumstances. He did not believe a child could breathe in utero.]

Henry Herman, Allegheny police officer, testified he was on the premises with the previous witness on the night in question, and was present when the child was taken from the vault.

Officers William McCain, J. Poland and Henry Hess gave similar testimony. Officer Hess had some conversation with the accused, and after a good deal of coaxing she said the deed was done and she supposed she would have to suffer for it.

Mrs. Mary Martin testified she resided in the house with the accused and her three sisters, occupying the lower part. This witness testified to having her suspicions excited. She discovered the accused in the out-house, and, assisted by Mrs. Cahill, took her into the house, when it was ascertained what had happened, and the Doctor was sent for. Witness states the accused was working in a "factory," and worked regularly, as also did her sisters; she had the same appearance up until the day of the occurrence, Wednesday. On the Monday previous she accused her sister Lizzie of circulating a report about her among the girls in the factory, and denied that she was in the condition represented. This closed the testimony for the Commonwealth.

Mr. Stone opened for the defense. He admitted the fact testified to by Dr. Rankin, that the accused had given birth to a child. But before the jury could convict they must believe the child had a separate, independent existence, and that the accused, while in the possession of all her faculties, with her own hands took its life. It was for the jury to say whether the birth, as well as the death, was not the result of accident. The accused, like many other worthy young ladies, had been unfortunate. He who, through deception, had caused her downfall had been brought to the bar of the Court. Mr. Stone had not given the case much attention; had been lately called into it, having volunteered to assist Mr. McCarthy, and appeared without fee or reward or hope thereof. He considered it the duty of counsel, in cases of this kind, to exert themselves to the best of their ability. The accused had sustained a good character, and she, with her sisters, had been known to be industrious. She was an orphan, and he who should have been her protector, or made her his wife, was not here in her hour of trial. Mr. Stone thought the acquittal of the prisoner would give general satisfaction.

Dr. E. S. Sutton testified that it could not be told by the appearance of the hair and ears whether a child was born alive or not; neither could the fact be determined by the external appearance of the chest. Indications from these sources, as well as that of the lungs floating when placed in water, were not certain, without other tests being applied. Dr. S. gave the different tests applied in post mortem examinations to determine whether, as in this case, children were born alive. The floating of lungs when placed in water indicated that a child breathed, not that it was born alive. So far as he had heard concerning the tests applied by Dr. Rankin they were not sufficient to convince him (Dr. Sutton) that the child in question was born alive. A child might breathe in utero and yet be still born.

Dr. McMeal was called and gave similar testimony.

The difference between Drs. Rankin and Sutton on the point referred to was most decided, and if the latter be correct, (and as to his learning and experience there can be no doubt,) the matter of determining whether children, as in the case on trial, are born alive or not, is attended with more uncertainty than we supposed. According to Dr. Sutton, a test considered by some physicians as infallible, such as the lungs floating in water, only indicates that a child breathed, while at the same time it may have been still born.

Court adjourned till ten o'clock this morning, when Drs. Murdock, Galligher, King and others will be called by the defense.

HORRIBLE MURDER.

Body of a Murdered Man Found in a Culvert on the Hempfield Railroad—Head Severed from the Body—No Clue to the Murderer.

The body of a murdered man was found on Saturday, the 6th inst., concealed in a culvert on the Hempfield Railroad, near Wheeling. Justice Johnson, of Wheeling, was notified and held an inquest on the body. When found the head was lying by the side of the body, and had been in all probability cut off with some sharp instrument. It was decayed so much, however, that it was impossible to say what instrument had been used; nor, from the same cause, was it possible to tell anything about the features of the murdered man by which he might be identified. On the right arm were two cuts, and one across the palm of the left hand, received probably in the death struggle. The body was dressed in a fine black cloth coat, vest and shirt, coarse, dark grey pantaloons and coarse boots and woolen socks. The pockets of the coat and pantaloons were turned inside out and had evidently been rifled. In the vest pockets, however, there were found a case of saddler's needles and a ticket for dinner on the Parkersburg packet Express. A rather large sized pocket knife was found on the ground by the side of the body, where it had probably fallen when the pockets were emptied. There were no marks of blood on it to indicate that it had been used.

The jury found a verdict in accordance with the facts. The corpse was interred, by order of the Justice, on Saturday evening.

So far there is no clue to the murderer; nor can it be said with certainty who the murdered man was. But about two weeks ago, some young men were walking along the railroad track, and discovered in the neighborhood of the culvert where the body was found a small valise or satchel, containing a pair of scissors and a paper written in German. This paper one of them took possession of, and bearing, Saturday, about the discovery delivered it to Justice Johnson.

The following is a translation of the paper found in the satchel. A three cent postage stamp was on the upper left hand corner, marked with the initials "K. U.":

OBLIGATION.

The undersigned certifies herewith that he is indebted to his brother, Aloisius Uhlrich, two hundred francs in French gold, equal to $52.50 in greenbacks, as loaned cash, which he has received, with the promise to pay the said sum as he may be able. Should it be impossible for the undersigned, within one and a half years, to cover the said debt, then he will give his brother the right to claim said capital at his home.

[Signed] KLEMENZ ULRICH.

PARKERSBURG, 15th May, 1867.

Police Items.

The following cases of surety of the peace were before Alderman Strain:

Daniel Daub made information against Frederick Ambrewster, in which he alleges that the defendant came to his store yesterday morning, on Sheffield street, and drew a revolver on him, threatening to kill him. Ambrewster was arrested and committed to jail for a hearing.

Eliza M'Naily informed on Catherine Donehu, alleging that she abused her, called her ugly names, and that she used obscene language towards her. The parties live in Hardscrabble. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Catherine.

James Lee fears that Robert Guthy will do him some great bodily injury and made information against him, alleging that the defendant threatened to split his head open with an axe. This difficulty occurred at McKee's Rocks. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Guthy.

Mary Burke, who resides at No. 2 Kildair's Court, threatened to dash Michael Kennedy's brains out, and Michael fearing she would carry the threat into execution, made an information against her, whereupon a warrant was issued.

Emma Lynch made informations before Alderman McMasters against Mrs. Martin for libel and surety of the peace. Warrants were issued for her arrest.

Hecla Foundry.

Mr. John Roney, proprietor of the favorably known Hecla Foundry, Carson street, Ninth ward, has recently enlarged his facilities for doing a much more extensive business. A new and admirably adapted building has recently been erected, and in connection with the foundry, forms one of the most complete establishments of the character in the city or neighborhood. The proprietor is a careful and skilled mechanic, having had large experience in all the branches of his business. He gives personal supervision to all jobs entrusted to his care, and is particularly careful that every piece of work turned from his establishment will sustain its high reputation. A specialty is made of the manufacture of hammer dies, steel moulds, rolling mill and machine castings generally. The hammer dies and steel moulds made at the Hecla foundry are favorably known, being all that is required and of the very best workmanship. We bespeak for Mr. Roney an increased share of public patronage, knowing that he devotes great care and attention to supplying his patrons with nothing but the best quality of manufactures.

Cutting Affray in a Sleeping Car.

A cutting affray of a serious character occurred in a sleeping car at the Union Depot, about two o'clock Sunday morning, between two men named Johnson and Monagan, who had been on a "lark" the night before and were pretty well filled with whisky. Monagan is a young man about twenty years of age, and is a sleeping car porter on the Pennsylvania Railroad. Johnson is about the same age, resides in this city, and was formerly a news agent on the road. When the two men came back to the depot they went into the sleeping car there to go to bed. They got into an altercation and in the course of the quarrel Johnson drew a knife and cut Monagan with it three times on the head, and once or twice across the breast. The gashes are severe and painful, but are not thought to be dangerous. The outcry brought immediate assistance, but for some unexplained reason Johnson was allowed to escape by the officer on duty at the depot, and is still at large. Monagan had his wounds dressed, and last evening was taken on the train to his home at Harrisburg.

Sweetmeats and Nuts.

Mr. George Beaver, No. 112 Federal street, who is known by everybody who can appreciate pure sweetmeats, or tempting foreign fruits and nuts, is prepared to furnish parties or pic nics with the choicest of candies, &c., at the most reasonable of prices. He has adopted in his business a system which will prove highly advantageous and convenient to the managers of Sabbath school parties, treats or pic nics. He sells the sweetmeats and nuts at counter prices in packages of from one to a hundred pounds, and without extra charge, divides and puts up to suit the purchaser in equal quantities for distribution among the young folks. The "shares" are done up in neat paper envelopes, bon-bons or bags, and will prove just the thing for those providing for parties. Mr. Beaver sells nothing but the purest of candies, not dealing in the poisonous truck so deleterious to the health of the children, and we cheerfully commend him to the patronage of our readers.

Paving Committee of City Councils.

The delegation from the City Councils left yesterday evening, by way of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, for Chicago and thence to St. Louis. The object of the excursion is to inspect the Nicolson pavement now in use in those cities, with a view to introducing it here. They will make a thorough examination of it and report their views to Councils on their return. The committee from the Councils consists of Messrs. Wm. B. Ford, T. S. Sloan, Jas. G. Weldon, J. J. Torley, Wm. R. Boggs, J. Mawhinney and William Barnhill. They will be accompanied by H. J. Moore, Esq., Recording Regulator, Wm. Flinn and S. F. Hunter, Street Commissioners, Samuel T. Paisley, Esq., Superintendent of the Fire Alarm Telegraph, and others. They will be absent about a week.

New Locomotive.—A new locomotive built for the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad Company made a trial trip yesterday. It was built at the Company's work shops in Connellsville, has all the late improvements, and is said to be one of the finest passenger engines now in the State.

Serious Accident.

A serious accident occurred near Brownsville, Pa., on the evening of the Fourth, by which William Norcross and William Banker were severely injured. The delegation from Brownsville to the celebration at Uniontown, had with them a six pound gun, which was in charge of Banker, Norcross and John Stuck, formerly members of the 85th Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers. After the celebration was over they started for Brownsville with their gun, and when on the hill, at the east end of the town, they unlimbered the gun for the purpose of firing a few rounds. They had loaded and fired three times, and while ramming home the third charge, Barker and Norcross at the rammer, Stack, who was at the vent, failed to keep it closed, when the charge ignited and exploded, sending the rammer through Banker's hands with such force as to tear two fingers entirely off and break a third off his right hand, and terribly lacerating the flesh on his left arm from the elbow to the shoulder. He was severely burned about the face and breast with the powder. Norcross' right arm was terribly shattered, and he was also badly burned. It is thought that Barker's injuries will prove fatal, but Norcross is in a fair way to recover. The accident occurred on the identical spot where Samuel Austin, Esq., of Uniontown, was killed by the bursting of a Mexican swivel, on the occasion of the return of the Second Pennsylvania Volunteers from Mexico, in 1849.

The Awards.

We have seen reliable intelligence in regard to the awards for Pianos at the great Paris Exposition, given on the 1st instant. Five grand gold medals were awarded; the first was given to Messrs. Chickering & Son, of Boston and New York, the second to a New York firm, and the remaining three to European makers. Besides receiving the first medal, Mr. C. F. Chickering, the head of the firm, was created a Knight of the Legion of Honor, and received the decoration from the hands of the Emperor himself. This is the greatest distinction that France can bestow, and is only given to men of genius. This information places Chickering & Sons at the head of all piano makers in the world, and rebukes the assumption of all other claimants to the high position. The public will now know that all attempts by other makers to take to themselves the honor of receiving the first prize at the Exposition is mere braggadocio and intended to deceive the public.

Pure Spices.

Since the expose of the great adulteration of spices has been made public, the purchasing community have grown exceedingly careful in selecting pure articles. To-day we desire to add our testimony to that of hundreds of others in setting forth the purity and good quality of the spices ground and sold at the well known Iron City Spice Mills, Fifth street extension, near Pennsylvania avenue, of which Messrs. Strickler & Moriedge are the proprietors. They manufacture nothing but the best and purest articles, and their name on packages is a sufficient guarantee of its character and superiority. The firm likewise keep on hand at all times fresh ground coffee, or will attend to the roasting of coffee, ground nuts, &c., on the shortest notice, in the best manner. Their prices are very liberal and they are eminently worthy of patronage from retail and wholesale dealers who buy to sell again.

First Class Dining Rooms.

There has recently been opened in the basement of the Academy of Music building, on Liberty street, a first class dining room. It is under the proprietorship of Mr. Simpson, than whom there is no more worthy or competent caterer in the city. The choicest viands of the season will be daily served up in the best style of the cooking art, and for a good, clean, square meal we know of no better place to refer our readers. The saloon is simply an eating room, so bar being attached and no liquors sold near the premises. Meals are served at all hours, and we hope the Simpson Dining Rooms will meet with the large share of patronage for which they are eminently deserving.

The Interest of Many.

From Esquire A. B. Stevenson, Magistrate at Birmingham.

TO THE PUBLIC.—I certify that I had been severely afflicted for years with Catarrh of the Head, Bronchitis, Heaviness in the Chest, and Impaired hearing. In this deplorable state I was providentially induced to apply to Dr. Aborn, at 134 Smithfield street. In ten days after commencing his treatment, I am most happy to acknowledge that I have almost entirely recovered from every symptom from which I had so long suffered. My hearing also is almost entirely restored to its original acuteness as the fruit of his skilled and scientific treatment.

A. B. STEVENSON.

July 8, 1867.

Boy Drowned.—Benton B. Temple, a boy about thirteen years of age, who resided with his uncle, John Pace, on Sheffield street, Manchester, was drowned while bathing in the Ohio river, near Brunot's Island, on Sunday about five o'clock P. M. He attempted to swim from the shore and had gone nearly half the distance to the island when he took cramp and sunk immediately. The body was found about four o'clock yesterday evening, by a party of men who were fishing a mile and a half below where he was drowned. The Coroner was notified and will hold an inquest this morning.

Accident.—Yesterday afternoon as a little girl named Hock, daughter of a widow residing in Birmingham, was gathering coal on the inclined plane of Keeling & Co.'s coal mines, at the head of Denman street, had her left foot caught under one of the cars descending and badly crushed. Amputation of four of the toes was rendered necessary. Dr. Miller skillfully performed the operation.

We sell Dry Goods both at wholesale and retail, and are, as a consequence, enabled to keep a larger and much better assorted stock, to sell cheaper, and give the goods in more accommodating quantities than exclusive jobbing houses. Retail merchants are invited to examine our stock.

Aggravated Assault and Battery.—S. F. Vogle made information before Justice Ammon, of East Birmingham, against John Burke alias Jack Burke, charging him with aggravated assault and battery. The defendant was arrested and, after a hearing, committed to jail in default of three hundred dollars bail for his appearance at Court.

Assault and Battery.—Sophia Leisser made information, before Mayor McCarthy, against her husband, John Leisser, for assault and battery. And Christina Brown, step-daughter of Leisser, made information again him for surety of the peace. The parties live at Soho. Warrants were issued in both cases.

LOTS FOR SALE IN TARENTUM, AND NEAR IT.—Tarentum is situated on the west bank of the Allegheny river, 21 miles above the City of Pittsburgh. The lots are generally in size 50 feet front and 25 deep, from street to alley; and also of 2 to 8 acres near the Borough and the Soda Works, well adapted for country residences, being rich soil, well watered, and commanding a beautiful and extensive view of the river and surrounding country. Persons desirous of starting manufacturing establishments, such as rolling mills, woolen factories, paper mills, &c., would find the location, near the river or railroad, admirably suited for such purposes. Capitalists will be encouraged to purchase by moderate prices and easy terms, as it is intended that the superior advantages of the place—as to abundant supply of water, coal, limestone, &c., and railroad and river facilities—shall be liberally offered for manufacturing purposes generally.
Trains on the Western Pennsylvania Railroad pass to and from Tarentum, east and west, several times daily. For a map of survey of the lots apply to Hon. H. M. BRACKENRIDGE, at his residence near the Soda Works, or J. N. PURVIANCE, Tarentum.

DEVLIN & SILL, Real Estate and Insurance Agents, Butler St., Lawrenceville, Pa.
FOR SALE—MANUFACTURING SITE.—To MANUFACTURERS: We offer for sale the best and most desirable site for Rolling Mill and Blast Furnace, or for any large manufacturing purposes, in the county. This property is located on a 40 foot street and the Allegheny river, and within 100 feet of the A. V. R. R. The lot is 240 by 548. Persons desiring such a lot would do well to examine before buying elsewhere. Terms made to suit purchasers.—Enquire of DEVLIN & SILL, Real Estate and Insurance Agents, Butler street, Lawrenceville.

FOR SALE—That very valuable and desirable property at Sale on Rebecca street and the Allegheny river, in Allegheny City; 180 by 427 feet, on which is erected a very substantial Brick Building, five stories high, 100x120 feet, calculated and well adapted for carrying on almost any branch of manufacturing. It is seldom a lot of these dimensions, within the city, can be had, and we would invite the special attention of those desirous of securing a place for manufacturing purposes to call at the office of DEVLIN & SILL, Real Estate and Insurance Agents, Butler street, Lawrenceville.

UNION REPUBLICAN NOMINATION.

FOR JUDGE OF SUPREME COURT:

HON. H. W. WILLIAMS,

Of Allegheny County.

THE IRON INTEREST.

For whatever other characteristics the New York Post may be distinguished, it is pre eminently reckless and dishonest in all statements relative to the doctrine of Protection to Home Industry and the practical applications thereof. Take as an illustration the following sample from one of its recent articles:

"Who are the producers of iron?

"There are, by the last census, 67,962 persons employed in the production of iron ore, and cast, forged, wrought, and rolled iron, in the United States. * * To support these 68,000 in what they say is an unprofitable business, what are the forty millions obliged to pay, extra, by the protective tariff on iron? In the report of Stephen Colwell, Revenue Commissioner, it is asserted that it costs $37 50 to produce a tun of English iron, and $116 39 to produce a tun of American iron. The difference in cost, $78 89, is what is sought to be made up by the 'protective' tariff. That is to say: Mr. Colwell, who is a protectionist, admits that we might buy our iron for $37 50 per tun. 'Protection' makes us pay $116 39, or $78 89 per tun extra! Now, he says we used in 1865 about one million eight hundred thousand tuns. Thus, according to his statement, it would seem that forty millions of American people are obliged to pay, for the benefit of the 68,000 iron makers, no less a sum than one hundred and forty millions of dollars per annum! No wonder the people complain of hard times. * * * *

"Is not this, then, a very costly way to maintain these 68,000 persons?

"It is. It would be an enormous economy if the Government would pay the whole 68,000 iron-makers $10 per day, and let them do what they liked. That would cost only $680,000 per annum, whereas Protection costs one hundred and forty millions."

These paragraphs are equally remarkable for their concealments as for their declarations. Let us first attend to the material averments. These are, that only 68,000 persons are engaged in, or live by, the production of iron in this country; that to pay these 68,000 persons each $10 a day would require only $680,000 a year; and that the consumers actually do pay $78 89 a ton more for iron made at home than they would have to pay if allowed freely to use foreign iron—the consumption being estimated at 1,800,000 tons a year, the excess of cost, consequent on Protection, amounting to $140,000,000 a year.

It is possible the census of 1860 returned only 68,000 men, directly engaged, as skilled workmen, in the production of "iron ore, and cast, forged, wrought, and rolled iron." Since then, however, the number has been largely increased, and so considerably out of proportion to the general increase of population as to render the figures of the Post, if they had been accurate then, quite misleading now. But this specification does not include all the departments of labor essential to the making of iron. It is as indispensable to have coal and lime as to have iron ore. This coal, in addition to being mined, has to be transported, longer or shorter distances, and then coked to fit it for use. It is not exaggerating to say that the hands thus engaged add a full fourth to the number otherwise employed in producing the metal in a condition fit for use.

But, to a proper comprehension of the matter it is further requisite to compute the common laborers and teamsters employed in and about iron mills, the masons and carpenters employed in erecting buildings and keeping them in repair; the machinists required to construct and mend implements; and above all the agriculturalists engaged in raising subsistence for all these people, and the shoe-makers, tailors, grocers, doctors, and individuals plying other vocations, who derive their subsistence indirectly from iron manufacturing. Nor may it be forgotten that a large part of these men are married and have families, so that their aggregate would need to be multiplied by four or five to show the number of inhabitants really dependent on the manufacture of iron for subsistence. These are details which the Free Traders, in all their estimates, are careful to suppress, because, when properly brought together, an argument is manifest to which they have no fair means of responding.

By what arithmetic the Post would be enabled to pay 68,000 workmen each $10 a day, for a full year, with only $680,000, we are at a loss to conjecture. Allowing three holidays in addition to the fifty two Sundays, there remains 310 days for labor in a year. At $10 a day each workman would be entitled to draw $3,100 a year. This sum multiplied by 68,000 yields the large aggregate of $210,800,000, instead of $680,000. So long as Free Traders can use figures with so startling a disregard of all acknowledged rules, they can have no difficulty in reaching any results, no matter how chimerical or absurd, which the necessities of their baseless theories demand.

The same recklessness in the use of arithmetic is exhibited in computing the increase in the price of iron in the United States consequent upon Protection. The difference between the price of iron here and in England is stated to be $78,89, and this difference is attributed solely to the Protection afforded through the impost duties. Let us see what facts will do with this assumption.

The Free Trade theory affirms that the cost of a particular article is enhanced to the consumer by the amount of the impost, and no more. If the enhancement is greater it must be attributed to other causes than the tariff. The duty on pig iron is $9 a ton. Few things could be more contrary to reason than to allege that this duty increases the price by more than $78. The duty on railroad iron is 70 cents on each 100 pounds, or $14 on a ton. How this $14 can raise the price $78 and over we suspect no one but the Post can see. The duty on bar iron is 1 cent a pound, or $20 a ton. How this can add nearly $79 to the cost of iron in this country is a proposition easy enough for a reckless journalist to assert, but which no man can possibly demonstrate.

Now it so happened that on the very day the Post made these statements Scotch pig sold in New York at $41 to $43 a ton, American pig at $43 to $44 a ton. Refined English bar has latterly been sold in quantities at $85 a ton, while the quotations have been at $105 to $110. This does not look like an increase in price by $78.89 in consequence of the impost and all other causes combined.

But it must be remembered that these sales of foreign iron were for currency. On the day the Post wrote, gold stood at a premium of 38¼ per cent. When this fact is duly considered, if any excuse, even the flimsiest, existed independently of it for the misstatements of the Post, it is swept away, and that journal must rest, in the mind of every honorable man, under the imputation of unblushing mendacity.

It must be borne in mind, moreover, that in adopting a governmental system either of Revenue or Protection one department of industry cannot be separated from another. The iron interest does not occupy a peculiar position. It occupies ground analagous to that of many other industries of national importance. The same arguments which would expose it to unrestricted foreign competition would expose many others in the same way. The rule which would break up the manufacture of iron here, would break up various other branches of business. Two millions of inhabitants at least, by the enforcement of this rule, would be driven from the employments by which they now earn their subsistence. It is not difficult for a visionary theorist to say, let these people take hold of employments for which this country is better adapted, and which, consequently, pay higher remunerations. Practical men feel the need of being more definite. Shall these manufacturers become merchants or middlemen? Everybody knows there are too many so employed, even under the existing condition of affairs. Shall they turn to those branches which are more purely mechanical? Are there not butchers, tailors, shoemakers, carpenters, blacksmiths, wagon-makers and the like enough now to supply tolerably well all the demands? Doubtless behind all these vocations there is the soil. Well, what would necessarily be the effect of driving two millions of inhabitants now engaged in manufacturing back upon farming for livelihood? Two millions of consumers less in the country, and two millions of producers more! Can any sane man doubt that agriculture would be overdone? that farm produce would recede in market value below the fair cost of growing it? that lands, and the improvements thereon, would fall away ruinously in price? and that distress would inevitably come upon all classes?

The very idea of wiping out the arts essential to civilization is abhorent. The difference between Africa and the United States consists mainly in the fact that the one has the arts of civilized life, while the other has them not. Every art originated or acquired among us adds to our civilization. Every art taken away, carries us one long step towards Barbarism. A score of our primary arts disused and forgotten, and we shall have gone back a long way towards that savage condition in which our ancestors existed when christianity dawned upon the world, and for centuries after. This is whither Free Trade tends, situated as the people of this community are now. We have not space to develop this thought to-day, and may recur to it hereafter.

FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD.

Cutting Hay.

A correspondent of the Country Gentleman makes the following sensible remarks on early and late cutting of hay:

"It is now better understood than formerly that some kinds of hay should be cut early, especially for cows. But in the declaration of new doctrines we are disposed to go to the extreme. Because some grass, cut in June or early in July, makes better hay, it is not to be assumed that all grass will. Clover, orchard grass, and timothy attain their growth and maturity rapidly and early, and very soon, if not cut, lose their good quality; and this is also true of some other kinds of grass growing on rich and warm uplands, and on any highly cultivated land. But there is a great deal of meadow which affords a very superior quality of hay, though cut late in August. This is the case with much of the bottom lands, or river meadows, where the grass does not attain half its growth by the fourth of July, and if cut so early, would want its superior quality. It dries up rapidly, the juices being only partially developed, and it lacks nutriment. Any one who has had occasion to mow a strip of such grass in the early part of July, and to cut the grass adjoining this strip four weeks later, will be struck with observing the difference, not only in quantity, but in the quality of the two cuttings. There is also a great deal of upland natural meadow, where the grass is of slow growth and late, and where the quality of it for hay improves nearly as long as it continues to grow, retaining its good color and rich aroma quite late in the season. In seasons of low temperature, such meadows will furnish an excellent quality of hay, cut as late as the first of September."

Plant More Beans and Peas.

We believe it would be a means of greatly improving our agriculture, if farmers would more generally raise the above crops; and the advantages that would come from a system of farming where peas and beans enter into a course of rotation are many. The latter crop is one that will stand out hot, dry summers, and being a leguminous plant, does not impoverish the soil, whilst its habit of growth is such that the horse hoe can be freely used in its cultivation, thereby keeping the soil open and free from weeds. The pea is also an enriching crop, and although the land upon which it grows cannot be cultivated, yet it so completely shades the ground that it is kept moist and light, and weeds have no chance to breathe. Neither crop is regarded as an exhausting one, and the bean especially is well adapted to take the same place in our course of farming that the turnip takes in England—acting as a sort of "fallow crop."

According to the best analyses of these crops, they are both extremely rich in nitrogen; hence their consumption on the farm furnishes manure rich in ammonia, the very element needed in the proper growth of wheat and the other cereals. So, while in their own period of growth they demand but a limited amount of manure, they furnish the substance, which if converted into manure upon the farm where grown, adds immeasurably to its own fertility and its ability to produce other crops and means of improvement.

Beans generally command a high price in the market, and so do peas; though the latter are not so quick, nor do they command so high a price. They are superior articles of food, and in England, Scotland and Germany, form the chief article of diet among the laboring classes, taking the place of bread, and contributing to the health and physical powers of the people.

If beans and peas are sold off the farm, they do not carry away so much of the fertility of the soil as some other crops; and if consumed upon the farm, they add a double value to it.

The experiments of Mr. J. B. Lawes, of Rothamstead, England, demonstrated that the manure from a ton of peas was worth $13 38; while that from a ton of oats was worth but $7.40—the difference being due to the large amount of nitrogen in the former crop. This shows at a glance the relative value of the two crops, and also shows the value of peas as compared with some other grains whose value differs but little from that of oats.—Utica Herald.

Are Hens Profitable or Not?

The inquiry often arises amongst inexperienced farmers as to the actual profits of keeping hens, and many affirm that they destroy more than they are worth. This, I am convinced, after several years experience, is not true, but they are more profit than any other fowl raised upon the farm. I usually keep about fifty, which are allowed to run about at large over the farm or remain in the hen house. By thus giving them freedom to stroll about, they get much to eat, which, were they confined, would have to be supplied to them in corn, grain, &c. I feed regularly every morning during the year, to them, two quarts of corn. This, with sour milk in summer, and a few boiled potatoes in winter, together with plenty of pure water, is all the food they require. During the year 1864 I sold 487 dozen of eggs, for $126.30, besides using what was required for a family of six persons. During the year 1865 I raised 150 chickens and sold 532 dozen of eggs, which at the average price amounted to $156 40. The chickens I sold for thirty cents apiece, making $31 50, a profit on fifty hens of $187.90. This is my experience in keeping hens, and I have always found where they were kept well they would yield a profitable reward. The labor required in taking care of them is very little, and I would urge any who have any doubts as to their profitableness, to try the experiment.—The Working Farmer.

Questions and Answers.

Please name some of the best currants. Red and white, Dutch, La Versaillaise, Dana's Transparent.

Does the Concord grape keep well after it is plucked from the vine? No! it soon loses its flavor. Then, as its skin is thin, many berries crack in handling and soon decay.

Would you advise severe trimming or pruning of pear trees? and at what season of the year should you prefer to prune? I would not prune severely. Take out all branches that cross or interfere with each other, and head in the leading shoots when they have made excessive growth; thus keeping the tree compact and symmetrical. Would much prefer to prune in June, but would do it any time until October. Some do it in March, but we do not regard it as a favorable time.

Does it injure grape vines to bleed? It is generally supposed to be injurious to trim grape vines so late as to cause them to bleed; but we have known vines to meet with accidents by which they bled profusely, and we could not perceive that they suffered in any degree in consequence.

How shall I keep my cherry trees in a healthy condition? They now burst the bark, causing the gum to exude. Manure less, and grow them slower. If the land is very rich sow it down to grass, and check the growth of the trees. Many cherry trees have been lost by forcing them. The cherry tree will not bear high manuring.

What are some of the best winter pears? Laurence Winter Nelies, Hovey, Calu de France, Beurre d'Aremberg, Glout Morceau, and Vicar of Wakefield.

Is it necessary to trench the land for a vineyard? No; plough deep and manure well with thoroughly decomposed manure, and set your vines. If your land is good enough for corn you will get satisfactory results.

Can peach trees be grown in pots or tubs? and how should they be treated? Yes; and give very good results. They may be set in twelve, fourteen or sixteen inch earthen pots, or in tubs of about the same size, well shortened in when set, and should be well pruned all the time; use good soil, and pack it close in the pot. They should be well watered in summer, occasionally with manure-water. If the pots are plunged in the earth they will be less trouble. Keep them in the cellar in winter for protection. Will give fruit the second year after being set. Try it.

Should strawberry plantations be made in Spring or Autumn? Spring is preferred by all market gardeners North. When only a few are to be set, it may be done in August; but they require more care if planted then.—Tilton's Journal of Horticulture.

Farm Items.

Michigan is second to no other State in the number and quality of her sheep. Many good men are living, and living because they are good, who remember when she had a hundred Indians to one sheep.

Some English farmers feed each head of stock from a pint to a quart of molasses a day. It is diluted with water and sprinkled on hay, which is packed and left to ferment twelve hours. The cattle like it as well as children do sweet cake.

The Board of Health of St. Paul, Minnesota, pay farmers for every load of manure they haul out of the city.

A Michigan husband boasts that he can make bread and pies; wash, iron, and tend the baby; says he married young, still is young, and always expects to be young; and he believes in husbands being educated so as to be useful.

To get a strawberry superior to the Willson, propagators are working with ambition and perseverance worthy of admiration. Whoever wins should be made independently rich.

The best cows are home made. A civilized nation is wealthy where home productions are good and fashionable. Long and happy lives come from home made clothing, and home made children.

Two hours reading of a good newspaper is as profitable as six hours work out of twelve. The farmer and the produce dealer equally should understand the markets. Sometimes to know a thing is the same as to earn $100.

In Illinois the osage orange hedge is planted, cultivated and warranted, for one year, at thirty cents a rod. In two years it will keep out all stock, and it is said to last five hundred years.

The imports of wool into New York for the year 1866 were 36,713,112 pounds; from January 1 to May 25, 1867, 9,960,324 pounds; and for the month ending June 22, 2,498,892 pounds.

Mr. L. Morton informs the Rural American that when his cows trouble him by holding their milk, he reaches his hand up and places his fingers on the backbone, forward of the hips, and presses down hard for a minute or so, and they will always give down.

Gay Lussac has proved that milk kept from the air is preserved for a long time, perfectly good. M. Mabrun having put the theory to a practical test and laid the process before the Academy of Sciences for their examination, the committee report that milk thus preserved, after six months, still possesses all the properties of fresh milk. A prize of fifteen hundred francs has been awarded to M. Mabrun.

Some idea of the extent of the peach crop this season in Delaware may be obtained from the estimates now being made by the railroad company, which is preparing to carry them to market. It is thought that the yield in Kent county alone will be 800,000 baskets. This is exclusive of that portion lying along the bay and creeks, which has its natural outlet by steamboat and sailing vessels. In 1864, the year noted for its heavy crop, there was shipped from Smyrna 70,000 baskets. This year the railroad company give the quota of Smyrna at 200,000.

One of our exchanges says: "A friend in whose powers of observation we have confidence, informs us that last spring and summer he made the following experiment. He transplanted ten cherry trees while in blossom, commencing at four o'clock in the afternoon, and transplanting one each hour until one o'clock in the morning. These transplanted during daylight shed their blossoms, producing little or no fruit, while those transplanted during the darker portions maintained their condition fully. He did the same with ten dwarf pear trees, after the fruit was one-third grown. Those transplanted during the night perfected their crop and showed no injury from having been removed. With each of these trees he removed some earth with the roots."

MR. W. MILLER SAYS:

PITTSBURGH, September 4, 1866.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa.

GENTS—I think I am only doing the part of a good citizen when I testify to the great benefits received by me from the use of your Stomach Bitters during the last five years. Sojourning for a time in the oil region, in 1861, I had a severe bilious attack, which, in connection with dyspepsia, left me in a very weak condition. I was advised to try your Bitters, and, having procured a bottle, found that they worked like a charm upon me, eight pounds having been added to my weight in the space of one week, and new life seemed to have been infused into my system, so much so that I have been induced to use them every summer since that time. As a tonic, I think they are invaluable.

This summer, having had a similar attack, (and as before, much reduced,) although under the treatment of an A No. 1 physician, I was again obliged to have recourse to the old Bitters, and with the same good result, having gained six pounds within a few days. I purchased a half dozen bottles a few weeks since, and purpose to use them regularly as a tonic.

Wishing you every success, I remain,
Yours, gratefully,
WILLIAM MILLER.

PINUS CANADENSIS.

A tree which is abundant in Canada, Nova Scotia, and the more northern parts of the New England States, and is also found in the elevated and mountainous regions of the Middle States, and abounds in medicinal virtues. Dr. Swett, of Boston, has prepared a medicine from the sweet inside bark of the pine tree, called POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND, which is one of rare value in all debilitated states of the kidneys. It acts like a charm in all diseases of mucous membranes enabling them to regain their lost tone and energy. It will be found well adapted to all those diseases, where Buchu has been tried and failed. It is likewise well suited to chronic coughs, and an infallible specific for old and debilitated cases of asthma. Many persons who at first only took a bottle of this medicine, to try, afterwards came back and got a dozen, or half dozen, which effected radical cures of diseases of the bladder and kidney of years standing.

Diabetes, a disease that has been looked upon as among the incurables, is immediately relieved by it. Notice the certificate of Asa Goodhue, published some time ago.

The United States Dispensatory, speaking of the pine, says: "it is prescribed in leucorrhoea, gleet, and other diseases of the urinary passages; in piles and chronic inflammation or ulceration of the bowels, in chronic catarrhal affections, and in various forms of rheumatism." It is exceedingly valuable in all gravelly affections, bloody urine, and where there is red and white sediment. It can be taken without interruption to one's usual avocations; and instead of sickening, produces a bracing, healthy power of endurance and vigor. Price, $1 per bottle; six for $5. Ask for POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND. For sale by the gross, dozen or single bottle, at DR. KEYSER'S Great Medicine Store, 140 Wood street. ap30

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

☞ SECOND BANKERS' AND MERCHANTS' GRAND PRESENTATION ENTERTAINMENT, will most positively take place at IRVIN HALL, on the evening of July 24th, 1867. The largest, greatest and most successful enterprise ever inaugurated in the world. A Present with every ticket.

The First Grand Concert was given on July 4th. It was a grand success. The mammoth Hall was filled with the elite of the city. The audience appointed a committee of nine of the leading Bankers and Merchants, to examine the corresponding numbers to the tickets and the Register Book, to see that all is correct before making the grand distribution of prizes at the last Concert, on the 24th of July.

A gift with every ticket. The Grand Distribution of presents will be conducted on the Mutual Benefit principle. A pro-rata Distribution of Profits to Ticket holders. Capital, $1,287,148. Tickets $1 each. A present with every ticket.

A reference to the number of presents and the general plan of distribution, given below, will convince the most skeptical of the great advantages which will accrue to all who participate in the enterprise; and the commercial and financial standing of the company, and the managers and bankers thereof, will, they hope, prove a sufficient guarantee of the fairness and impartiality with which everything in connection with it will be conducted, and that the interests of ticket holders will be most scrupulously watched over and guarded. In fact it is the desire of the managers to conduct every transaction for the mutual benefit of whoever shall purchase a ticket, and scrupulously to avoid any and everything which could in the slightest degree diminish the profits which are likely to accrue to all who invest. List of Presents: Cash—One cash present at $75,000; one cash present at $50,000, one cash present at $35,000, two cash presents at $10,000; three cash presents at $5,000, four cash presents at $3,000; five cash presents at $[illegible]; eight cash presents at $1,000; fourteen cash presents at $500; twenty cash presents at $[illegible]; forty five cash presents at $200; forty cash presents at $100; [illegible] cash presents at $50; one hundred and fifty cash presents at $25; one hundred and seventy five cash presents at $10; two hundred cash presents at $[illegible]—864 cash presents, amounting to $150,000. Pianos—8 Steinway's grand pianos at $1500; 8 Chickering's grand pianos at $1500; 25 Steinway's 7 octave pianos at $600; 25 Chickering's 7 octave pianos at $600; [illegible] melodeons at $140; 125 melodeons at $125. Sewing Machines—75 Wheeler & Wilson cab case sewing machines at $[illegible]; 104 Wheeler & Wilson half case sewing machines at $[illegible]; 133 Wheeler & Wilson plain sewing machines at $55; 73 Singers' cab case sewing machines at $[illegible]; 10 Singers' half case sewing machines at $[illegible]; 133 Singers' plain sewing machines at $65. Diamonds—[illegible] full sets Diamonds at $3,500; 1 full sets diamonds at $1,750; 15 diamond cluster rings at $[illegible]; 20 diamond cluster rings at $[illegible]; 25 diamond cluster rings at $[illegible]; 31 diamond cluster rings at $[illegible]; 5 diamond cluster pins at $[illegible]. Gold Watches—16 gents' gold watches at $[illegible]; 26 gents' gold watches at $[illegible]; 42 gents' gold watches at $[illegible]; 56 gents' gold watches at $[illegible]; 20 ladies' diamond set watches at $[illegible]; 55 ladies' gold watches at $[illegible]; 92 ladies' gold watches at $[illegible]; 106 ladies' gold watches at $[illegible]. Silver watches—[illegible] American silver watches at $[illegible]; 25 American silver watches at $[illegible]; 150 American silver watches at $[illegible]; [illegible] detached lever silver watches at $[illegible]; 249 cylinder watches at $[illegible]; 22 plated watches at $[illegible]; assorted prizes valued at $[illegible]. Total value of presents, $1,287,148. Immediately after the grand distribution a list of the presents awarded will be printed and sent to each ticket holder. This will be the fairest and most impartial plan of distribution yet offered to the public. To this end they have consigned the sale of tickets and the registering of the same to CLARK, WEBSTER & CO., Bankers and Managers, No. 62 Broadway, New York, who will keep the records in their custody until the day of the grand presentation entertainment, when they will be handed over to a committee selected by the audience to make an impartial distribution of presents. Tickets, one dollar each. For sale at the Banking House of CLARK, WEBSTER & CO., No. 62 Broadway, New York, or sent by mail on receipt of price and stamp for return postage.

Special Terms or Club Rates.—Any party procuring a club of five or more names for tickets, and sending us the money for the same, will be allowed the following commission: We will send 5 tickets to one address for $4 60; 10 tickets to one address for $9 10; 20 tickets to one address for $17 75; 40 tickets to one address for $[illegible]; 50 tickets to one address for $[illegible]; 100 tickets to one address for $87. In order that every subscriber's name may be registered, send the Post Office address, with town, county and State in full. Money by draft, Post Office order, express, or in registered letters may be sent at our risk. All communications must be addressed to CLARK, WEBSTER & CO., No. 62 Broadway, New York. jy9:b86

THE
RAILROAD CO.

Are now constructing a Railroad from OMAHA, NEBRASKA, westward towards the Pacific Ocean, making, with its connections, an unbroken line

ACROSS THE CONTINENT.

The Company now offer a limited amount of their

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,

Having thirty years to run, and bearing annual interest, payable on the first day of January and July, in the City of New York, at the rate of

SIX PER CENT. IN GOLD,
At Ninety Cents on the Dollar.

This road was completed from Omaha 305 miles west on the 1st of January, 1867, and is fully equipped, and trains are regularly running over it. The Company has now on hand sufficient iron, ties, etc., to finish the remaining portion to the eastern base of the Rocky Mountains, 212 miles, which is under contract to be done September 1st of this year, and it is expected that the entire road will be in running order from Omaha to its western connection with the Central Pacific, now being rapidly built eastward from Sacramento, Cal., during 1870.

Means of the Company.

Estimating the distance to be built by the Union Pacific to be 1,565 miles, the United States Government issues its Six per cent. Thirty year Bonds to the Company as the road is finished at the average rate of about $28,250 per mile, amounting to $44,208,000.

The Company is also permitted to issue its own First Mortgage Bonds to an equal amount, and at the same time, which BY SPECIAL ACT OF CONGRESS ARE MADE A FIRST MORTGAGE ON THE ENTIRE LINE, the bonds of the United States being subordinate to them.

The Government makes a donation of 12,800 acres of land to the mile, amounting to 20,032,000 acres, estimated to be worth $30,000,000, making the total resources, exclusive of the capital, $118,416,000; but the full value of the lands cannot now be realized.

The authorized Capital Stock of the Company is one hundred million dollars, of which five millions have already been paid in, and of which it is not supposed that more than twenty-five millions at most will be required.

The cost of the road is estimated by competent engineers to be about one hundred million dollars, exclusive of equipment.

Prospects for Business.

The railroad connection between Omaha and the East is now complete, and the earnings of the Union Pacific on the sections already finished, for the month of May, were $251,782. These sectional earnings, as the road progresses, will much more than pay the interest on the Company's bonds, and the through business over the only line of railroad between the Atlantic and Pacific must be immense.

Value and Security of the Bonds.

The Company respectfully submit that the above statement of facts fully demonstrates the security of their Bonds, and as additional proof they would suggest that the Bonds now offered are less than ten million dollars on 517 miles of road, on which over twenty million dollars have already been expended; on 300 miles of this road the cars are now running, and the remaining 187 miles are nearly completed.

At the present rate of premium on gold these bonds pay an annual interest on the present cost of

Nine Per Cent.,

And it is believed that on the completion of the road, like the Government Bonds, they will go above par. The Company intend to sell but a limited amount at the present low rate, and retain the right to advance the price at their option.

Subscriptions will be received in New York by the Messrs. Burke & Barnes, Pittsburgh, Pa.

GENTLEMEN—We ship you, to-day, by railroad, a safe of your make, for a few repairs. The safe went through the disastrous fire that occurred here on the 6th of March last, burning our store and warehouse, and we are glad to inform you that the papers taken out of the safe after the fire were not harmed in the least. We did not suppose any safe, especially so small a size, could possibly stand such a fire, and when we discovered the papers all safe and sound, we were agreeably disappointed. We will give you an order for a large size safe when we get into our new store.
Truly yours,

AUCTION SALES.

COUNTRY HOMES AT AUCTION.—The subscriber will offer at Public Sale, on the premises, in Robinson township, on THURSDAY, July 11th, 1867, commencing at 2 o'clock p. m., a splendid variety of BUILDING LOTS, desirable for country homes or for gardening purposes, the whole consisting of thirty acres, divided into eighteen lots, ranging from one to three acres each. These lots are situated on Chartiers creek, two-and-one-half miles from the city, in a fertile and salubrious valley, and but a short distance from the romantic spot known as McKee's Rocks. They are accessible from the city by the Woods' Run Passenger Railway and Ferry to McKee's Rocks, and by the Pittsburgh & Steubenville Railroad, as well as by the Chartiers & Robinson Township Turnpike.

The position is one of the most healthful and beautiful in the country, and being but a short distance from the city, the opportunity thus offered for obtaining a country home or garden spot is a very rare one.

Any person wishing to see the property before the sale, can do so by calling on the subscriber, near the premises, in Chartiers township.

TERMS—One-third cash at time of sale; balance in one and two years, with interest from date of sale. JAS. McGUNNEGLE.

LOTS AT AUCTION.—THERE will be sold at the premises, on WEDNESDAY, July 10th, at 3 o'clock, 20 BUILDING LOTS on and near to Spring avenue and Quarry street, on the elevated ground, overlooking the City of Allegheny, adjoining to Mr Robert Henderson's new stone house. These lots are 100 feet front, and vary in depth from 50 to 114 feet. There is one beautiful lot of over three acres, rich in stone, and two lots of about one acre each. They are easily reached by streets from the Butchers' Run plank road, are finely adapted for building dwelling houses, and afford very fine views of the city.

A plan of the lots can be seen at the Auctioneer's office, 159 Federal street, Allegheny.

Terms—One-third cash, balance within five years. A. LEGGATE, Auctioneer.

The Pittsburgh Gazette

The Late Col. Riddle.

We find in the Philadelphia Lutheran Missionary, the following beautiful and touching tribute to our recently deceased fellow citizen, Col. William Riddle. The hearts of many of our readers with whom the gallant deceased was a personal favorite, will make grateful response to this just testimony of his social and military character. The author was formerly a surgeon in the army, having served with Col. Riddle. Here is what he says:

The youthful soldier William Riddle arrived at our headquarters in October, 1861, bearing a commission as Second Lieutenant. His advent was not warmly welcomed, as his appointment was unusual, the company to which he was assigned having been denied the right of electing their commander. Disappointed aspirants for promotion were prejudiced against the frail form and boyish figure of their new officer. But he entered upon the discharge of his duties manfully, trusting to overcome opposition by merit, which always wins the love of soldiers. He did not trust in vain.

Soon after he joined the Regiment he took sick and was confined to his tent. During his illness his brother John visited him. John was ardent in the cause of the country, and sought admission in the ranks, I declined to examine him as I thought him to young too endure the hardships and exposures of camp and field service, although he was of a stout and well knit frame. Beside he was the only son his widowed mother had at home. He was importunate, I was obdurate. "Examine me," he said; "I am strong and healthy and can bear the fatigues and dangers I court. If you refuse to accept me, I will be received in another command." Where? I asked. He objected to tell, lest I should interfere and thwart him. He did go into service in another Regiment, and was honored with a wound before we broke camp.

On the 26th of June, 1862, the first of the "seven days" fighting began. It took place near Mechanicsville. The enemy assaulted in vastly superior force, and the action on our side was sustained by the Pennsylvania Reserves. The rebels were repulsed with great slaughter, and we held the ground until the morning of the 28th, when we were ordered to fall back upon Gains' Hill. Our victory was purchased by the loss of some of our bravest men. The wounded were carried to a little mill, at the rear of the field. While working among the sufferers, I came upon our young Lieutenant, lying by the bank of the head race. I inquired if he was wounded. "Yes, but not badly; attend to those poor fellows who are worse hurt, and then look after me." I found that he had been struck on the top of the head by a bullet, which ploughed a deep furrow in the scalp.

The wounded were transferred to Savage Station, whence it was hoped they could be sent home. Then I thought my patient had been taken. But the next day, unknown to me, he took part in the fierce fight, in which his captain was killed by a shot through the skull. At midnight of the 29th, I was called, on the march, to see a man who needed instant care; when I found him faint and exhausted, and that he had nearly fallen from a horse he had been riding. We watched him all that fearful night, while cut off and surrounded by the enemy. The next day he was quite refreshed. Every moment we expected an attack. I exacted a promise from him that he would keep out of action, stating strongly the danger the excitement and fatigue of battle would bring. The engagement soon opened. The counsel I gave him was forgotten, and he went into the struggle. The 30th of June, at New Market Cross Roads, was a sad occasion for our Regiment. Col. Simmons, the idol of the command, and many brave officers, were slain; and but a skeleton of the regiment reached Malvern Hill, the next morning. Our Lieutenant was not among the number. He was seen on a charge, but none could tell what had been his fate. The awful thunder at Malvern Hill closed the appalling "seven days;" and the noble army that was wronged out of triumph, was bleeding, but safe at Harrison's Landing, on the James. Exchange of prisoners took place early, and some of our returning boys, reported that as they passed Libby, on their way to the transport boats, they heard a familiar voice hailing them in mirthful ejaculations; and turning their eyes to the prison window, they discovered the handsome form of our lost Lieutenant. Our congratulations upon his safety had scarcely been exchanged when he appeared among us, clad in rebel uniform, torn and dirty, a most grotesque presentment; he having escaped from Libby, in clothes furnished by a Union family in Richmond, eluded the pickets, and made his way down the hostile Chickahominy to our encampment. He was the centre of attraction.

General Reynolds, admiring his gallantry, placed him upon his staff, upon which he served, until the general was assigned to the command of the Pennsylvania militia, on the eve of the Maryland engagements, when he was transferred to the staff of Gen. Meade. In the battle of Antietam he was severely wounded. He was again placed on the staff of General Reynolds, was with this great soldier when killed, and escorted the body to Baltimore, on its way to Lancaster. From the battle of Gettysburgh, until after the army had invaded Petersburg, he was a staff officer of Gen Meade. His health became so much shattered, that he was forced to resign; he left the service with honor, bearing the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. I saw him last, about two months ago, pale, thin, with a weary look, but bright eye and merry voice.

From the sickness of the camp, the wounds of the battle field, escaping the poison of the prison. Surviving so many of his companions in arms, his captain, his majors, Lieut. Colonel, his Colonel, his General, WILLIAM RIDDLE fell a victim in your crime stained city to the cowardly blow of a drunken ruffian, a miserable wretch whom the government the gallant soldier defended amid such perils selected to hold its appointment.

Four years ago, he attended the bleeding remains of the dead hero of Gettysburg, on their way to their final resting place; a few days since, the living hero of Gettysburg, accompanied his own wounded body to the sepulchre of his fathers.

He had won a brave reputation, he was comfortably established in business, and was a favorite in soceiety: it was hard to die at twenty-six, with so much to make life inviting!

Vain are merely human distinctions, and merely human enjoyments. The hopes that reach not "behind the veil" are idle and false; the life spent not here as a fragment of eternity or empty and frivolous.

STATE OF KANSAS.

Excursion Over the Union Pacific Railway, E. D.

[Special Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, June 29, 1867.

RETURN FROM POND CREEK.

The gentlemen who went on to Pond Creek from Fort Harker have returned safe and well. John D. Perry, Esq., the President of the Company, accompanied them. They all speak in glowing terms of the interest of the trip and of the beauty of the country through which they passed. The savages did not molest them. Gen. Hancock, with a small military force, accompanied them up; the return trip was made in stage coaches.

Pond Creek is within eight or ten miles of the western boundary of the State of Kansas; yet for the entire distance from Fort Harker to that place the prairies are clothed with luxuriant grass, and the soil is rich and deep. Timber is scarce, but there seems to be no lack of water. The soil is like that I have already described between Salina and Fort Harker, a deep brown sandy loam, well adapted to the culture of wheat; but all these gentlemen concur in representing the country beyond Fort Harker as still better than that over which we passed on this side of that point. They speak of the prairies of the Buffalo grass region as exceedingly beautiful and picturesque, and that the country is sure to settle up as fast as the railroad progresses.

At Fort Wallace the excursionists organized a meeting for the purpose of giving expression of what all that they had seen and experienced had upon their minds.

Pond Creek (Fort Wallace) is an important point on this line; for there or in that vicinity it is that the line to New Mexico leaves the line to Denver. The distance from this point to Denver is 181 miles. To Santa Fe it is 392 miles. Both lines pass over good ground for railroad purposes. With the exception of a hill of a few miles in width, in which the soil is said to be impregnated with alkali, the country between Pond Creek and Denver is well adapted to the raising of stock; but I am told that without irrigation it is not adapted to the ordinary purposes of agriculture. With this, however, it is exceedingly prolific. Both coal and pine timber are found in great abundance as the foot hills of the mountains are approached.

But the southwestern route through New Mexico is by far more interesting and important; for it appears now to be a settled point that through New Mexico and Arizona, and not through the stupendous system of mountains, which begin at Denver and end only on the banks of the Sacramento, this company will seek their ultimate destination, the tide water of the Pacific. Into the natural gorges of those mountains, and into the deep artificial cuts required for a railroad, the light dry snows of that region will drift in such quantities as to defy all human power and skill to keep them clear. Even as late as the first week of the present month some of the traveled passes through the mountains, between the heads of the Platte and the Salt Lake valley, were filled with from ten to twenty feet of snow—not snow which had fallen in, but drifted in, and over which men and teams were passing as upon terra firma. But engines and railway trains cannot run over snow drifts; and where they are so enormous it is clear that they cannot run through them. It is equally certain that those long, deep, narrow gorges or cuts cannot be kept clear by any muscular or mechanical force that can be employed for that purpose; for if cleared to-day, they may be filled again to-morrow. To travel by rail through such a region in the winter season—and the winter in those mountains is nearly half the year—would be attended with such frightful peril that few would have the hardihood to brave it; for imagine a passenger train caught in a snow-drift, far from any human habitation, and buried, perchance, in a few hours under a mass in which even the train itself would cease to be a distinguishable object.

Some propose to put the road under roof in all such places; but this is easier talked about than done. Moreover the advocates of that expedient appear to forget that fire is still more formidable and uncontrollable than snow. It may suit the temper of some high spirited and energetic gentlemen to expunge the word impossible from their vocabulary; and, having a powerful Government at their back, to imagine themselves to be omnipotent; but prudent men, such as those who manage the Eastern Division, hesitate to rush blindly with which they, nor any other men, are not able to grapple.

They have, however, that which their energetic rivals of the Platte line have not—an admirable alternative. They can drop to a more Southern latitude, where there are no snows to obstruct them, and no stupendous heights to scale. This Southern deflection of the line begins at or near Pond Creek.

The following information respecting the country between Pond Creek and Santa Fe I have from W. S. Stone, Esq., Agent of the Santa Fe Stage Company.

From Pond Creek to Fort Lyon, on the Arkansas river, about 500 miles northwest of where that river crosses the west line of the State of Arkansas—rolling prairies, a good buffalo grass region, —(estimated)	65 miles.
From Fort Lyon—which is in the midst of a very fertile district, the road continues S. W. up the Valley of the Purgatory, through a country which beyond the valleys is a rolling, buffalo grass prairie, to Trinadad, the base of the Raton mountains	126 miles.
Thence to summit of Raton Pass	15 "
Thence to Red River	14 "
Thence to Santa Fe, through numerous valleys, and several Mexican towns, some of considerable size	182 "
Total from Pond Creek to Santa Fe	402 miles.

This is the stage road. It is probable that the railway line will run a few miles east and south of Santa Fe to Albuquerque via Fort Union, at the eastern base of the Raton mountains, and thus avoid some mountain passes and keep in a better country. The country all the way from Pond Creek to Albuquerque is for the most part one of the finest grazing regions in the United States; but it is utterly valueless until opened and rendered accessible by railroad communication. But when it shall be so developed, it will become a large source of natural wealth and prosperity. Throughout the greater part of that immense pastoral district cattle require no stored food in the winter season, for the grass of the prairies, whether green or dry, is always good and nutritious. That is the country of the hitherto unconquerable Apaches.

The recent discovery of rich gold placers in New Mexico adds greatly to the importance and prospective success of this road. But really it seems that from the point where the mountains are first reached, on the western border of the great "Buffalo Region," to the shores of the Pacific, the line of the road runs through one continuous field of the precious metals, besides much timber and coal.

Leaving Albuquerque, the line, through the heart of Arizona—that richest of our territories in gold and silver, but the most difficult to reach—presents no serious difficulties. Long valleys, running in the right direction, bear it onward towards the border of California, whence, turning the southern extremity of the great Sierra Nevada range, it passes up through southern California, midway between the mountain and the ocean, to San Francisco, touching the fine port of San Diego by a short branch, and the head of the Gulf of California and the port of Guaymas, if need be, by others.

This route may be somewhat longer than that through Utah and Nevada, but the gradients will be so much smaller as more than to compensate for this lengthening of the line. For all purposes for which a railroad is desired to be shorter, to-wit: speed and economy of transportation, it is believed that this is virtually the shorter line. But whether it is longer in miles than the other is not yet known; for the length of line necessary to wind round the labyrinthine mountains of Utah is not yet an ascertained quantity. Be that as it may, it is certain that its grades will be lighter, that it can never be obstructed by snow, and that the country it will open up and develope, whether agricultural, or pastural, or mineral, is ten fold more valuable.

A party of gentlemen of scientific ability, about eighty in number, headed by Gen. W. W. Wright, Chief Engineer, and comprising among others, Dr. John Leconte, of the Smithsonian Institute, as geologist, Dr. Parry, who was engaged in the survey of the line between the United States and Mexico, with eminent topographers and photographers, are now engaged by this company in a careful examination, survey and development of this line. Other surveying parties of equal ability are now engaged in locating the road between Pond Creek and Denver.

CELEBRATED

WORCESTERSHIRE SAUCE

PRONOUNCED BY CONNOISSEURS TO BE THE "ONLY GOOD SAUCE" and applicable to EVERY VARIETY OF DISH.

EXTRACT of a LETTER from a MEDICAL GENTLEMAN at MADRAS to his Brother at WORCESTER, May, 1851:

"Tell LEA & PERRINS that their SAUCE is highly esteemed in India, and is, in my opinion, the most palatable as well as the most wholesome SAUCE that is made."

The success of this most delicious and unrivalled condiment having caused many unprincipled dealers to apply the name to SPURIOUS COMPOUNDS, the PUBLIC is RESPECTFULLY and EARNESTLY requested to see that the name of LEA & PERRINS are upon the WRAPPER, LABEL, STOPPER and BOTTLE.

Manufactured by LEA & PERRINS, Worcester.

THE UNDERSIGNED having secured the sole Agency for the sale of the celebrated

COPLY POT CLAY,

Are now prepared to furnish it in any quantity to those wishing to procure this superior article. During fifteen years' use of this clay we have arrived at such proportions as we believe makes it a better article for pots than any in the market, we having secured an average stand of six months for each pot, and some lasting as long as eight and ten months. We will furnish receipts for the proportion of the mixture of this Clay to persons purchasing. The Clay is ground and inouided in lumps for delivery.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—The best Farm in Fairfield township, Westmoreland county, Pa., containing 200 acres, situated six miles south of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at Bolivar Station. The improvements are a large hued log house, with nine rooms, a good cellar; a frame bank barn, 45x70, with the best of stabling. Two apple and one peach orchard. The whole farm is in a high state of cultivation; the fences all No. 1; the soil is good, and is well watered; about 200 acres cleared, the remainder in good white oak timber. This property is offered at the low price of fifty dollars per acre. Possession immediately.

Also, a valuable Garden Farm, containing 80 acres, situated in Elizabeth township, Allegheny county, Pa., on the Youghiogheny river, and near Boyd's Station, on the Connellsville Railroad, nineteen miles from the city. The improvements are a two-story brick house with six rooms, hall running through the house, with cellar, &c., 1 barn and other out-buildings. Abundance of the best fruits, of all varieties. Churches, Schools and Mills very convenient. Persons wishing to engage in gardening would do well to call and purchase quickly.

Also, a Farm of 46 acres, situated in West Wheatfield township, Indiana county, Pa., about 3½ miles from the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The improvements are—First, a two-story frame house, with five rooms, a large frame barn, 45x70, corn crib, carriage house, a good stone spring house and well house. Second, a two-story log house, a large frame barn, 45x70, a large stone spring house, and other outbuildings. The fencing is good, abundance of limestone on the place, and coal in a short distance. Convenient to Churches, schools, Mills, &c. I am authorized to sell this property very cheap and on easy terms.

Also, An excellent Farm of 160 acres, of which 95 acres are under cultivation, situate in Christian county, Illinois. Improvements—a new frame dwelling containing 5 rooms; about 600 choice fruit trees, good fencing, &c. It lies within 2 miles of the Illinois Central R. R. Will be sold on reasonable terms. City property taken in part exchange if desired.

Also, a Farm of 312 acres in Penn township, Westmoreland county, 230 acres cleared and under cultivation, 82 acres of first-rate white oak and other timber, 2 dwelling houses, 1 of them 2 stories, the other 1½ story, with a tenant house, also a first-rate Steam Sawmill in good running order; young orchard of grafted fruit. The land is rolling; every acre is tillable, with lime stone soil and sub soil, with never failing springs; within one hundred rods of the Penna. Central Railroad, 23 miles east of Pittsburgh, and three miles west of Greensburg. This farm is pleasantly and eligibly situated to a good neighborhood, every acre is underlaid with coal. The title is good.

Also, a two-story Brick House, with 10 rooms; 20 feet front and 56 feet back, with two good lots, situated in the village of Bairdstown, Derry township, Westmoreland county, Pa., on the bank of the Conemaugh river immediately opposite the Borough of Blairsville. This property is offered for the low price of $1500.

Also, a Farm of 120 acres, situated in East Wheatfield township, Indiana county, Penna. The improvements are a good frame house, frame barn, and other outbuildings; about 100 cleared and under good fence, the residue in good timber. The soil is of a good quality, well watered, convenient to churches, schools, mills, etc. Will be sold at the low price of $40 per acre. Possession immediately.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
MONDAY, July 8, 1867 }

The New York stock quotations to-day, as received by Mr. P. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 138¼; Eighty-one bonds, 109½; Five Twenties, 1862, 111⅝; Five Twenties, 1864 108⅛; Five Twenties, 1865, 108¼; 1865 ditto new, 107⅜; Seven Thirties, 107¼@106⅞; Ten Forties, 102⅜. Stocks—New York Central Railroad 105⅛; Erie Railroad, 68½; Reading Railroad, 106⅝; Old Southern Railroad, 84; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 87½; Chicago and Rock Island, 97⅛; Chicago and Northwestern 44⅝; Chicago and Northwestern preferred 67⅜; Fort Wayne Railroad, 100⅛. Mining Stocks Gregory, 6,50; Corydon, 2,01; Quartz Hill, 1.85.

Gold is rather lower to-day, the extremes were 138⅜@138⅛. The effects of the Government disbursements are beginning to be felt in the gold room, and a more bearish feeling is prevalent. The total payments on account of the July coupons are a little over five millions; the balance is in favor of prior coupons. Government securities are firmer to-day, especially those of 1862, 1864 and 1865, where there is accrued interest. Seven Thirties are firm, and Ten Forties steady, with a light demand. Railroad shares are lower for want of outside support. Nothing but an abundance of idle capital in Wall street keeps up the market; a pressing demand for legitimate business purposes would greatly reduce the values of Railroad shares until there was a sufficient increase in their net earnings.

Mining shares better, without any advance, and unless mining companies practice the same economy as private individuals do shares representing investments will keep very low. High rates of interest is now paid by parties of good standing who looked to the banks for accommodation, but who now have to resort to the street to get money.

There is much idle capital seeking employment, but parties prefer to keep greenbacks instead of investing in business, and bonds almost too high to be a profitable investment.

The recent failures have occasioned considerable gossip in commercial circles, and it is to be hoped that they will not turn out as bad as many have been led to believe; but, as always is the case, these suspensions have produced a panicky feeling which will take considerable time to overcome. In regard to the liabilities and assets, we have nothing but the wildest kind of rumors, and we are of the opinion that, outside of the parties who are interested and who have a right to know, there is nothing known definitely, and this, probably, is as it should be.

Rumors were current to-day that a prominent oil man has been "forced to the wall." We have no particulars, and give the rumor for what it is worth, not pretending to vouch for its correctness. There were also reports of another failure.

We allude to these, as to other cases in yesterday's issue, because they are spoken of freely in business circles; the popular versions of the facts are so conflicting that we are not without hope that the several parties may be enabled to effect satisfactory arrangements, and thus avert impending disaster to themselves and others.

—It is stated in the June report of the Agricultural Department that in some parts of the South there have been complaints of rust in the wheat, but it has been mainly confined to the leaf, while the grain was so nearly ripe as to be little liable to attack. The harvest has been gathered in Georgia and the other Gulf States with a very gratifying result. The average in winter wheat is as large in a majority of the States as last year, though it is less in a few of wheat growing States. Texas, Kansas, Ohio and Indiana report a diminished average, and Virginia, Georgia, Arkansas and Tennessee a largely increased breadth. The New England States show a slight increase. The Middle States a similar advance not exceeding six per cent. The Southern wheat growing States show an average increase of twenty per cent. If the conditions continue favorable at least two hundred millions of bushels may be expected in all the States and Territories. Other cereals are represented as in good condition.

—There is considerable demand among the outside public for some of the leading railroad shares, founded in part on the ease in money, in part on the anticipation of good crops, but chiefly on the conviction that while the leading lines of road were built in advance of the public demand, the country is being enriched and developed by them, has grown gradually up to them, and will soon render the best situated lines remunerative. Such arguments as these are very freely canvassed in Wall street, and to them, apparently is largely due the investment demand which has recently sprung up for railroad securities. The speculative movement has also received an impulse from similar causes, and it is especially stimulated by the fact that the shares of a number of the best railroads which were formerly on the speculative list are no longer floating in the market, but have been "taken out of the street," and are firmly held by investors. The volume of shares available for the ordinary operations of speculators is consequently lessened. Hence the efforts and manipulations of these persons being concentrated on fewer points, it is all the more effective there.—New York Post.

—The Cincinnati Gazette says: "The stockholders of the Ohio National Bank, by a unanimous vote, accepted the proposition to consolidate with the Merchants' National Bank. The latter will then have a capital of $1,000,000. The name of the bank and officers will undergo no change, the Merchants' simply absorbing the Ohio. The Merchants' National has declared a semi-annual dividend of 5 per cent., payable on demand, and an extra dividend of 5 per cent., payable August 1."

—The closer vigilance observed by the Government in protecting the honest tax payers, by hunting out those who defraud the Government by criminally evading their tax, is beginning to show itself in practical results. An illicit distiller has just been convicted and sentenced to the Albany Penitentiary for two years. New York is now considered the chief centre of traffic in illicit whisky, and a determination is manifested to ventilate doings there. This is the first offender who has been brought before the Court of the United States in New York or Brooklyn, for sentence under the statute providing penalties for violating the Internal Revenue Law, and as he received the extreme penalty of the law, in imprisonment and fine, it would seem that henceforth the business is to be more dangerous than it has been in the past. Judge Benedict, in sentencing the prisoner, remarked that it seemed to have been understood that the revenue laws can be violated with impunity, "but," said he, "this must be understood otherwise." The warning is a salutary one, and we have no doubt will have its effect, especially if it comes to be understood that it will be followed up in other like cases.—Phila. Ledger.

New York Cattle Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 8—Receipts—4,564 beeves, 18,392 sheep and lambs, 19,645 swine. Offerings of beef are unusually light to-day and with an active demand from butchers. There was rather more tone to the market, and in some cases holders succeeded in establishing an advance. There were a number on sale, about 1,600 of which were quickly disposed of at $17@17,50 for extras, the latter an outside price; $16,50@17 for prime, $15,75@16,25 for first quality, $15,25@15,50 for fair to good, and $14@15 for ordinary to inferior. Sheep—the market is a shade firmer, though prices are not quotably higher, and the demand is fair; extras, $7; prime, $6,50@6.75; ordinary and common, $6@6,50; inferior, $5@5.50. The Hog market is active and ⅛c higher; twenty six car loads were on sale and quickly sold at from $7,25 to $7,50 per cwt. The market closed steady.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
MONDAY, July 8, 1866. }

The general markets were very dull to-day, and there are no indications at present of any immediate improvement. The demand for most of the leading commodities is restricted almost entirely to supplying immediate wants, and, consequently, we have but few round lot operations to record. In prices, there are no changes worthy of special notice.

GRAIN—Wheat is quiet—none in market. Oats firm, in good demand and higher; we now quote at 70@73c, on track, and 75c, in store. Corn is dull and unchanged; we continue to quote at 85@90c. Rye is dull and nominal at $1,20@1,25. No enough doing in Barley to establish quotations.

FLOUR—There is a very good local demand, but the market is a little weak notwithstanding, and, if anything, prices tend downward. We quote at $11@11,50 for fair to good Spring Wheat, and $11,75@12,00 for choice: $12,75@13,50 for Winter Wheat, and $16,75@17,50 for fancy brands. Rye Flour is dull at $8,50. Sales of "White Star" at $12, and "City Mills of Springfield" at $12,75.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is firm with a steady jobbing demand, and Shoulders and Hams are a fraction higher. We quote at 10c for Shoulders 11¾c for Ribbed and 12¼@12½c for Clear Sides; and 18½c for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard is dull at 12½c; Mess Pork, $22,50, and Dried Beef, 23½@24½c.

POTATOES—There is quite an active demand for New Potatoes, and we can report regular sales at $6,50 per bbl. Peach Blows $1,20 per bushel.

GREEN APPLES—There is an active demand, and with light arrivals, prices may be quoted firm at $8@9 per bbl.

CHEESE—Is steady, with regular sales at 13@15c, according to quality.

EGGS—Steady with regular sales of fresh packed at 18c.

BUTTER—Is dull but unchanged—not much good Butter offering. We continue quote prime at 16@18c.

OIL—Lard Oil is still quoted by manufacturers at 82@83 for No. 2, and $1,04@1,05 for No. 1.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
MONDAY, July 8, 1867. }

CRUDE—The market was again very quiet to-day, and while there is no urgent inquiry, yet there is but little oil offering, and holders are firm at last week's quotations. There was a sale on Saturday of 3000 bbls to be delivered after September, at 8. Spot oil may be quoted at 7½@8c, and the same figures will do for first water. A private telegram from Oil City quoted at $2,30, which is about the same as Saturday. The eastern markets are steady and moderately active, but unchanged.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil was quite active to-day, the reported sales Saturday evening and to-day reaching eleven thousand five hundred barrels; prices have undergone but little change. The sales were: 2000 bbls to be delivered between July 15th and 25th, seller's option, at 28½; 500 for July, buyer's option, at 30; 1000 for August, same option, at 28; 1000 for July, same option, at 30; 1000 for all the year, same option, (resale of contract) at 30; 1000 each for July and August, at 28½; 500 for July, at 30; 1000 for July, seller's option, at 28; and two lots of 1000 each, for August, at 28; 500 last half of July, at 29; 500 same delivery, buyer's option, at 24, on cars here; and 1000 bbls prime light straw to white, at 27 delivered in Philadelphia. The eastern markets were again reported "offish" this afternoon, but this has been the case for several days past, and, consequently, seem to have no effect.

Pork firmer, at $15 for mess; $22,25@22,50 cash and regular, closing at $22,50 for regular. Beef in fair demand. Cut meats unsteady and moderately active. Bacon firm, at 10½c for Cumberland cut; 11½c for short rib. Lard dull, at 12½c@14c for fair to prime.

Cincinnati Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, July 8.—Flour is in better demand, and there is no change in prices; family, $11 50@12, and fancy, $11 50@13 50. Wheat is in better demand from country millers, and about 2,000 bushels were sold at $2 20@2 40 for old winter red, by sample; no new wheat is offered. Corn is in good demand from the South, with but little in market; sales of No. 1 at 95c for sacked. Oats is very scarce and was sold at 75c, at the close was sold at 80c. Rye is scarce and firm at $1 20. Cotton is unchanged; middlings selling at 23c. The feeling on the part of holders of Whisky is steady, at $2 30 in bond. Mess Pork is held at $22, with sales of 100 barrels at this rate; the market closing buoyant. Bulk meats are firmer, with sales of 100,000 pounds at 8½c@10½c for shoulders, but holders generally ask 9@11c. Bacon is firmer, but no higher, with sales of shoulders at 9¾@10c, and clear sides at 12½@12¾c; clear rib sides sold at 12½c, and at 11¾c; hams are firm at 18c for sugar cured. Butter is steady at 14@17c for central Ohio, and 17@18c for Western Reserve. Eggs are selling at 15c per dozen. Flax seed is dull at $2 20. Linseed Oil is dull, with sales at $1 53. Gold is buying at 138.

RIVER NEWS.

The river was about at a stand last evening with twenty-five inches in the channel, according to the new metal mark. We had considerable rain during Sunday night and yesterday forenoon, and it looked favorable for more last evening.

The Delaware has arrived from Glass House since the date of our last report, and the Leclaire left for Parkersburg yesterday on time. The Monongahela river packets continue to make regular trips to and from Brownsville.

John Shafer, late United States Inspector of Boilers at St. Louis, is now chief engineer of the Great Republic.

Capt. Donaldson telegraphed to the Cincinnati Commercial on Friday, that the Great Republic would leave for New Orleans that night with two thousand two hundred tons, and engagements below to fill out.

Wagers are very generally offered in Memphis that the Great Republic can and will beat the famous run of the J. M. White, which was accomplished in three days and twenty-three hours from New Orleans to St. Louis.

The Spray arrived at Evansville Tuesday night from Cumberland river, with a full cargo of tobacco for that port. Her officers report the Pine Grove and Tyrone high and dry aground, and the Havana unable to go up.

With regard to the Richmond, the Memphis Bulletin says it never did see anything about her that was lovely, and so stated when she first appeared at that levee, claiming that Louisville never did turn out a steamer that was not "puffed" and overrated to an extent that made her appear simply ridiculous. We saw nothing in the Richmond to admire then, much less do we see it now, and we have ever been ready to stake our pile against her on either the Ruth or Great Republic.

Capt. L. B. Dunham, says the Louisville Journal, who has commanded a score of steamers on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, has sold out his boat store establishment in this city, and contemplates going back on the river. He will proceed to St. Louis next week to look after a steamer suitable to the Louisville and New Orleans trade.

The R. E. Lee has laid up at Mound City, Illinois, to be repaired and repainted for the fall season. She will have her shafts raised, which will probably increase her speed a mile an hour.

The Louisville Courier is very ungenerous, to say the least, in regard to the recent run of the Republic, which it pronounces a failure. We believe justice should be done on all occasions, although it may be in conflict with desires. It is a selfish course to pursue to damn a boat because she was not built at Louisville.—Cincinnati Gazette.

The Great Republic arrived here on Sunday, firing a salute upon her arrival, and her fine band striking up a grand national air. She left New Orleans on Thursday, making this port in two days, sixteen hours and twenty-three minutes, beating the time of the Ruth and Richmond—that of the former being two days, seventeen hours and eleven minutes, while that of the latter was two days, nineteen hours and thirty-nine minutes. Although simply a business trip, this speed shows conclusively that the Great Republic is fully realizing the expectations of her friends.

In fact, there is little doubt that she will eclipse the speed of any boat between the Crescent City and St. Louis, since the J. M. White, if she does not rival that famous steamer. Taking her gorgeous appearance and unsurpassed accommodations, the experience of her admirable officers, and their great care and prudence, coupled with her now acknowledged speed, the Great Republic may be regarded of the highest rank among steamers, and beyond cavil is second to no boat in point of fleetness, unless the Lee may take precedence.—Memphis Avalanche.

We extract the following items from the Cincinnati Commercial, of Saturday:

The funeral of the late Geo. Shield took place yesterday morning. The remains were interred in Spring Grove. We are pained to announce the death of the accomplished wife of Captain Geo. D. Hoopie, Superintendent of the Memphis and Cincinnati Packet Company. The Belle Vernon and Kate Putnam, from St. Louis for Pittsburgh, will lay up here until there is a rise above. The Leonidas, Capt. Greenlee, dropped down to the levee yesterday, and is now loading for New Orleans. The Messenger, Capt. Jesse Dean, is also loading for New Orleans. The Emma No. 3 left for New Orleans, drawing only four feet, with her barge loaded to three feet. Pilots—John Gray and Jos. Camitz. The New York departed for St. Louis, drawing only four feet, and the barge three feet. Pilots—Wm. Smith and Geo. Hancock. Capt. Hugh Campbell and Mr. Geo. O. Hart, clerk of the fast New Orleans packet St. Charles, are at the Burnet House. The St. Charles has laid up at Portland, but will resume her trips shortly, or as soon as business revives.

We were startled while walking down Locust street yesterday by a hail from the stentorian and well-known voice, with its rich Irish brogue, of our excellent and highly esteemed old friend, Capt. P. G. O'Riley, who arrived from New Orleans yesterday. He left New Orleans at half past 5 o'clock Thursday evening, on the Great Republic, and arrived at Cairo at 9½ on Monday morning, just three days and sixteen hours, having been delayed twelve hours by fog, bad nights and landings, having answered every hail; actual running time three days and four hours. Capt. O'Riley is enthusiastic in his admiration of the Great Republic, and thinks her the greatest and most perfect steamer ever built. Her outfit, her tables, and the gentlemanly bearing of her officers he thinks are unsurpassed, and he believes she will prove herself unequalled in speed. This eulogium, coming from the source it does, for what Capt. P. O'Riley does not know about a steamboat is not worth knowing.—Evansville Journal.

MEDICAL.

CONSUMPTION!

It would take a man a lifetime to read the treatises that have been written upon this important subject, and if a sick man were to attempt it he would make himself worse by the reading, and die before he got half through. The symptoms of the disease are, hacking cough, expectoration of matter or pus, pain in one or both lungs, chilliness, burning in the palms of the hands and soles of the feet, exhausting day or night sweats, hectic fever, wasting of flesh or marasmus, sometimes expectoration of blood. These are the usual outward symptoms, apparent not only to the observing physician, but to the patient's friends. There are, however, more important symptoms than these, which are only made manifest by auscultation and percussion, terms which mean, in a medical sense, thumping and listening, and they are employed outwardly in order to ascertain what is going on inside of the cavity of the chest. The signs of symptoms elicited in this way are almost surely demonstrate the true and exact condition of the respiratory organs. A perfect auscultator can not fail in ascertaining whether the Lungs are acting naturally or not. Hence it is the best method of examining the lungs. Their actual condition once discovered, the appropriate treatment is more rapidly arrived at, and every diseased part more completely under the influence of appropriate remedies. We have long been of the opinion that consumption or decay, or wasting of the bodily strength, was dependent on a depraved state of the blood, which carries, in its course, tuberculous matter, and deposits it in the lungs, or elsewhere in the body, just as calculi or stone is deposited in the bladder, a small particle of which attracts other particles, until it becomes of such offense to the natural functions as to bring on inflammatory action, which action, if it could, would carry it out of the system, and which could have been easily done in the beginning of such disease. Dr. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP is a complete and perfect cure in the forming stage of lung disease. It acts on the very principle we have stated above, by enabling the securing or carrying off organs to do a double share of work. Waste and repair are easily comprehended, and if the worn out material be carried off, and the renewing material of a proper character, there must be health and ease, the contrary of sickness and disease. In many cases of consumption which have become settled, Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Syrup fails to cure, although it will do good in nearly all. He prepares a medicine called LUNG CURE or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE, which is a great tonic, and strengthens and restores the parts to be renewed, while it dissolves and carries out from the body those particles of worn out or extraneous matter, which only tend to clog or destroy it, by hindering the renewing material being deposited in proper place.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION, RESULTING FROM PLEURISY, CURED.

Statement of George Ford, carpenter, of No. 10 Sampson street, Allegheny City:

I took a violent attack of pleurisy, in May, 1866, which left me with a cough lasting all summer, wearing away my strength and gradually undermining my health. During this attack pleurisy I had several physicians of the highest reputation in the city. After I had partially recovered from the pleurisy, I was advised to go into the country, which I did, and when there a called in a doctor, who told me my left lung was affected, and that if something were not done soon I would die of CONSUMPTION. I lingered on from this time until about the middle of June, my cough and lung disease gradually growing worse, and I weaker every day, and almost despairing of ever getting well. In this state of despondency, and knowing the general belief of the incurability of Consumption, and having heard of cures made by DR. KEYSER, and seeing his advertisement in the newspapers, I was induced in October last to call on the Doctor at his office, 120 Penn street, and had him examine my lungs with his "LUNG SOUND." He told me the upper lobe of my left lung was very much diseased, but he thought with great care and the perseverance in the use of his medicine, I would get well. At the time I called on Dr. Keyser my pulse was over one hundred and thirty beats in a minute, and I was generally prostrated, and had to cough night and day. I commenced the Doctor's treatment in October, with a feeble, broken constitution, and continued it faithfully until the present time. The Doctor's medicines helped me from the very start, and I could gradually feel myself getting stronger, and my cough and expectoration lessening. I have gained greatly in flesh, and consider myself well; all the rattling of my lung has ceased, and my general health is in every way good. All my relatives and friends know of the advanced stage of my disease and my extraordinary recovery. One of the medicines given me by Dr. Keyser was a medicine called LUNG CURE, which I took in connection with the other treatment. GEORGE FORD

PITTSBURGH, March 30, 1867.

ANOTHER CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

STATEMENT OF JOHN G. WIGHAM, OF TURTLE CREEK, ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

I was discharged from the United States army January, 1866, on account of a wound in the head, from a shell, and a disease which the army physicians pronounced CONSUMPTION. I had a terrible cough and fell away in strength and flesh and was unable to do anything. Shortly after my return from the army, I made application to a physician of my neighborhood and, afterwards, to another in Pittsburgh of high reputation, whose remedies I used faithfully for five months, without any benefit whatever, but rather grew worse, and wasted in flesh and strength every day. In August, 1866, my mother took me to DOCTOR KEYSER, of 120 Penn street, whose skill in such cases like mine had been highly spoken of and put myself under his treatment. The Doctor examined my lungs very carefully with his LUNG SOUND, and told me that my left lung was badly diseased at the upper part, but if I was careful he thought he could cure me by following his directions closely, which I did from that day to this. I gradually improved under Dr. Keyser's medicines from the first week I commenced to take them, and my general health has improved, and my chest, where it was sunk in away, and where it pained me, has become full and strong and free from pain. I can now do a full day's work, and take great pleasure in giving my testimony in favor of Dr. Keyser's treatment and medicines.

JOHN G. WIGHAM,
Turtle Creek.
PITTSBURGH, April 11th, 1867.

A case of five years' standing cured by DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP:

DR. KEYSER:—My wife has been afflicted with a cough and difficulty of breathing for five or six years, which, for several years back, had gradually increased in violence. The complaint has been hereditary, and she had been treated by several physicians without any relief. In this state of her case I procured some of your PECTORAL COUGH SYRUP. I bought the first time a fifty cent bottle, which relieved her very much; I then called and got a dollar bottle, which cured her entirely, and she has now no trace of the former disease, except weakness. I would also state that I used the medicine myself for a cold and cough. The medicine cured me by taking one dose. I express my entire satisfaction with the medicine, and you are at liberty to publish this if you desire to do so.

WM. WILSON,
Alderman, Fifth Ward.

Our son, JAMES PAINTER, some three years ago was afflicted with consumption of the lungs, for which he was discharged from the army. He was examined by four army physicians, who all agreed that he must die with the disease. We brought him to Dr. KEYSER, 140 Wood street, (now 120 Penn street,) who, after sounding his lungs, commenced to treat him, and cured him sound and well. He is now well and has been so for the past three years. Others afflicted in like manner can likewise be cured.
